PATRICK O'BRIEN

Lowell Man Among Victims of Fire in Nashua Today

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 21.—Three men are dead and a fourth is in the Nashua hospital in a serious condition as the result of inhaling smoke in a fire that burned out the interior of the Denton hotel, a lodging-house on Denton street, near the Union station here today.

The dead: HARRY L. COREY, 33, unmarried, a paperworker.

PATRICK O'BRIEN, 60, paperworker; leaves a family in Lowell.

JAMES McGUIRE, 35, a Boston & Maine brakeman, well known in local fraternal circles.

Patrick Murray, another lodger in the hotel, was overcome by smoke but at the hospital it was expected that he would recover.

The fire was discovered some time after four a. m., but as it had attained great headway by that time it is believed that it had been burning for hours. It evidently originated, according to the firemen, in the hotel office, although Dennis O'Neill, proprietor of the house, said today that he is positive that the fire was set from the outside.

O'Neill awoke at four o'clock. He smelled smoke and started to investigate. As he opened the door of his room he found that the halls were filled with smoke. He rushed through the halls knocking on the doors of the rooms, where the eleven lodgers were sleeping and all but four of the guests were aroused in time to escape.

The fire had burned off the stairways and cut off escape by this avenue. O'Neill, after arousing the lodgers, stopped out on the roof of the piazza but slipped and fell to the ground, severely injuring his back.

After the firemen had arrived on the scene, Corey, O'Brien, McGuire and Murray were brought down ladders and rushed to the hospital. Corey died in the ambulance. O'Brien breathed his last a few minutes after reaching the hospital, while McGuire lingered for an hour. Death in every case was due to suffocation. As the chemical engine of the fire department was responding to the alarm the vehicle skidded, crashed into a lamp post and Driver Hallissey was thrown from his seat, sustaining a fractured ankle and a badly sprained shoulder.

An estimate after the fire placed the property loss at about $3000.

The Denton hotel, although built for a regular hotel, had in recent years been used as a lodging house for men, its patrons being principally railroad men, teamsters and mill hands.

MORE WOMEN REGISTER

1097 Names Added to List of Female Voters Yesterday

Just because the fair sex did not show up in large numbers at the office of the registrars at city hall on Saturday the registrars got it into their heads that the backbone of the female registration storm was fractured, but yesterday disillusioned them. The women called early and stayed late, and some of them waited two hours or more to get registered. They declared that if they had to do over again they would bring their sewing. They didn't all say that, because some women, like bakers, are more industrious than others.

The total number of women to register yesterday was 1097 and the number of men to register was 55. It looked like a convention and the men delegates were very much in the minority. The registration by wards was as follows:

2	53	2

BUSY COURT HOUSE

Five Sessions in This City at One Time Today

A large crowd, with its attendant confusion, and a rushing business on the telephone characterized the scene at the court house this morning when five sessions of court came together simultaneously, or, rather, four simultaneously, and the fifth later, for there are only four court rooms in the building, and when Judge McIntire found that his session of the probate court had been assigned to a small and stuffy room in the old court building, ordinarily used for indexing records, to accommodate the divorce court. His court room and opened the session in the regular probate court room compelling the divorce court to wait.

The divorcés and their lawyers and witnesses crowded the corridors through the morning hours.

Goldman vs. Penn

Judge Morton opened the session of the superior court with juries with the trial of the cases of Rebecca Goldman, administratrix of the estate of her late husband, Abraham Goldman, against William H. Penn, the well known contractor. Abraham Goldman was a bricklayer who was employed by Contractor Patrick Conlon on the new Massachusetts mill building in East Merrimack street in the fall of 1910. The contract for the wood and carpentering work was sublet to Contractor William H. Penn, whose men were laying the floors on the first story of the building where Abraham Goldman was employed laying bricks on the wall.

On the morning of Sept. 15, 1910, as Goldman was starting to work in the mill he fell through the floor into the canal over which the building was constructed, and was drowned after a struggle in the water.

Mrs. Goldman sues Mr. Penn for the death of her husband and for his conscious suffering before death. She alleges in her declaration that through the carelessness of the defendant or his agents or employees, a large hole in the floor over the canal was improperly covered by loose boards in such a manner as to hide the hole from view but laid so that they would go down as soon as any weight was placed upon them. She further claims that her husband in the exercise of due care stepped on one of these boards, hollowing it to be safe, and was precipitated into the canal and drowned. A. S. Howard and Bennett Silverblatt appeared for the plaintiff and Messrs. Trull & Wier for the defendant.

Four witnesses were called by the plaintiff's counsel, including Mrs. Goldman, the plaintiff, Patrick Conlon, the man, the plaintiff, Patrick Conlon, the employer of the deceased, and two workmen, who saw Goldman fall into the canal.

Patrick Conlon, the first witness, explained the nature of the work on the building and the condition of the flooring at the time of the accident.

"The deceased was in your employ on Sept. 15, the day of his death, was he not?" asked Lawyer Howard.

"He was employed by me on the day previous," replied Mr. Conlon.

"Well, wasn't he in your employ on the day of his death?" inquired Mr. Howard.

"He was drowned before 8 o'clock in the morning and my men didn't start work until 8," said Mr. Conlon.

Elzear Landry, an employee of Mr. Penn, testified to throwing the planks over the hole into which Goldman fell. He gave the dimensions of the planks and said that the hole was not covered and was covered by the planks.

Lawyer Howard presented a signed statement of the witness, stating that one of the holes was so covered that a passerby could not see it. Witness did not recall making any such statement.

Witness said he was at Mr. Wier's office yesterday afternoon and talked over the case with him and defendant. He did not see Goldman fall into the water but saw him in the water.

Gus Anderson, another employee on the job, also gave testimony.

Assessment of Damages

Judge Fessenden's attention in the jury waived session of court was occupied all morning with the cases of Thomas and Mary McCourt of Cambridge against the Boston Elevated railroad on the matter of assessment of damages. At yesterday's session the defendant was defaulted and this morning several witnesses were examined.

Two witnesses were called by the defense, who stated that they were passengers on the car at the time of the accident, but the plaintiff, Mrs. McCourt, stated positively that neither one of them was on the car. Mrs. McCourt claims that a car on which she was riding started up as she was about to alight from it. The defense claims that being in a hurry to get home she started to alight before the car stopped and got off "woman fashion," stepping off backwards.

Judge Fessenden took the case under advisement.

The next case was a neighbors' dispute over a fence dividing the property of John W. Hocter and Laura Dugan of Malden. Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden was counsel for the plaintiff. Several witnesses, including Malden's fence viewers, were called as witnesses.

Probate Contested Session

Judge Lawton presided over the session of the probate court for contested cases and had a brief session. There were five matters on the list.

SCENE IN COURT

Spencer Called One of Witnesses for Defense a Liar

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 21.—"You lie!" shouted Bertram Spencer, who is being tried for the murder of Miss Martha Blackstone during the testimony of Dr. Alfred Elliot, medical director of the state asylum at Bridgewater, at the opening of the session today. Crying and fighting off half a dozen sheriffs, the prisoner caused such a commotion that a recess of 15 minutes was taken.

Dr. Elliot was the first witness to take the stand for the defense today. He told of the defendant being brought to the hospital in September, 1910, for observation and remaining about ten months. The defendant was first placed in what is called the milder ward for observation but was later put in the northeast ward as it was feared he would try to escape. When asked why Spencer was later put back in the milder ward, Dr. Elliot said it was because he could play ball and have more exercise in a larger ward.

At this point the prisoner jumped up in the cage and shouted, "You lie!" Turning to the jurors, the defendant yelled: "He is lying. I want the court to know. I want the jurors to hear me. I want every man and woman in the court room to hear me. He kept me in that stinking, nasty ward that is not fit for a dog. I won't shut up. I won't shut up. He's a murderer and a contemptible liar."

He has brutalized men at Bridgewater and beaten them. He has murdered a number of men and buried them in the woods for the foxes to eat. I have been to him on my knees and begged for mercy and all he has said has been: 'We'll investigate.'"

At this point in Spencer's outbreak he was overpowered by the several sheriffs in the courtroom and crying and wailing was led out of the courtroom while a recess of 15 minutes was taken to allow the defendant to regain his composure.

The outbreak today did not come us unexpectedly as the one last week. All of the time that Dr. Elliot has been in the courtroom Spencer has hardly removed his gaze from the medical expert. For some reason unknown to the spectators the defendant seems to entertain great hatred against Dr. Elliot.

When Spencer began to shout and cry his mother and sister got up and left the courtroom. His wife, however, wanted to enter the case, saying that there was no need of violence and that she felt sure that she could quiet her husband. She was not allowed to, however, and the sheriffs finally succeeded in subduing the prisoner and led him out of the room.

THE MISSIONARIES

ARE ON THEIR WAY TO SHANGHAI

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—With the exception of Dr. and Mrs. William Morse, who are remaining at Chung King, West China, all of the missionaries of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society stationed in West China have other ways to that city. A callgram received today at the society's headquarters in this city from U. D. Stratford, the society's business agent at Shanghai gave this information.

The missionaries are coming to Shanghai because of the orders of the American and British consuls that all foreigners leave Chung King. Dr. and Mrs. Morse are Canadians but are well known in Providence, R. I. Four of the society's missionaries are still shut up in Chentu. They are D. S. Dye of Ohio, C. J. Foster of New York, and Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor of England.

THE DIVORCE COURT

Several Decrees Were Granted in Uncontested Cases

The second session of the superior court for uncontested divorce cases was opened this morning in the probate court room with Justice Richard E. Irwin presiding. A decree was given in the cases of Mary A. Maltman vs. Frank M. Maltman. A decree was also granted Estlin Maloney against her husband, John Maloney, for abusive treatment. The defendant testified that she has been married four years and during that period of time her husband has never done anything, she said, toward her support with the exception of purchasing a $1.75 pair of shoes. She also had him arrested twice for assault and battery, she said, and the last time he was sentenced to four months in jail.

In the case of Annie Henderson vs. Franklin Henderson a decree nisi was granted on the ground of desertion. The libellant stated that she was married in 1892 and that her husband left her eight years ago and his whereabouts is unknown.

Rose E. Savage was granted a decree against her husband, Thomas H. Savage.

Bessie M. Larkin was granted a decree against her husband, George Albert Larkin.

A decree nisi was granted Ida M. Coffin against her husband, Wade T. Coffin.

AFFIDAVITS NOT SUFFICIENT

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—On the ground that the affidavits accompanying the requisition papers for Nathan Berman and Louis Brooks were not sufficient to show them to be fugitives from justice from Connecticut, Governor Foss today refused the request of Governor Baldwin of Connecticut for the delivery of the two men. In his letter to Governor Baldwin, Governor Foss stated that Massachusetts laws require that the complaint accompanying the request shall also be accompanied by affidavits to the facts constituting the crime charged by persons who have actual knowledge of such facts.

REV. DR. STACKHOUSE

Spoke on the Men's Forward Movement

Another meeting in connection with the "Men's Forward Movement" was held at the Palace Street Free Baptist church last night. It was a banquet and rally by men of the Baptist churches of Lowell, Haverhill, North Chelmsford and Tewksbury. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, D. D., who was introduced by George H. Taylor, Dr. Stackhouse said, in part:

"Every man in the church ought to be engaged in some plan of mission work and actively in the cause as a whole. Are the men uninterested? Yes, there are a great many men who are, and I am going to tell you how to reach them. I had a church in Vancouver and I wanted that church to let me have three months' vacation in summer in order that I might do missionary work up among the mountaineers. I got my vacation principally because I took it. The work met with success. There are two or three churches up there now, and some very large and fine congregations. When I first started my work up there, I found that the devil was sitting on the sled behind and was holding me back by striking his spiked tail and sharp hoofs in the ground. But when I got back to my church it seemed as if I were subduing the devil round by his tail and riding down from the hills with a terrible impetus. The first sermon which I preached after my return seemed to have been delivered when I was alive with enthusiasm. And I did arouse up with enthusiasm. A the close of the service a very strong man came up to me and said: 'You certainly had a fine sermon, but there is nothing to this missionary talk of yours.' Well, I just took that brother in hand right there on the spot and asked him how he dared to breathe God's air and back in his sun-bathed and pleated for his love and grace and for the same time refused to share a single gift of his Creator's blessing which he gave to mankind through his agony in the garden of Gethsemane and his agony on the cross from others. How could he hope to face his Lord without doing this? Sometimes I have been asked what to do in case it is the pastor himself who blocks the way and turns his back on it. I have simply replied that in that case the heat should be applied to the man's back until he turns around and gives up or gets out. It is the same with him if it was with the man in my church who refused to give till I told him that it was either give or get out. This may seem like a very drastic measure, but that man is one of the warmest friends I have on the Pacific coast. We decided to give.

"You men here who have come from the maritime provinces of Canada know that it is a fine place to be born in and a fine place to emigrate from after you are born. Well, there was an old farmer up there who had borrowed the money to get married on, had bought a farm, had prospered and at last he had quite a surplus laid up in the bank. Well, I want to that man to get a subscription for this work from him. We went out into the fields to talk it over, and finally he asked me what I thought he ought to give. I told him I thought that $1000 would be about right for him. He asked me if I would only tell that to his wife, and that then he might consider it if she would even listen to me. Well, at noon I asked her, and we finished the meal in silence. Just as I was driving out through his gate he slipped through after me and told me that he had decided to pledge the amount which I had asked him for. And later on he furnished that amount for his yearly contribution, this to continue for six years. Now, if there are any farmers here tonight, I should like to meet them after this talk. In your churches, be sure to pick out the active and busy men for the important places on the committees, for the lazy and indolent and half-hearted are better left alone in their own employment. It is the busy men who will accomplish things for you. And make sure that every one gets into this 'ten cents a week for foreign missions.'

Rev. P. A. MacDonald of the Fifth Street Baptist church spoke briefly as follows:

"The burden of the present military and naval equipment of Christendom is stunning national life and handicapping the progress of humanitarian movements, and must be lightened. The immediate step is to bind nations together more closely by arbitration treaties, the scope of which should be sweeping in the list of international questions that they will make subject to the jurisdiction of an arbitral court.

"The treaties of such character recently formulated between the United States and Great Britain, and between the United States and France are the creation of some of the ablest, most far-seeing statesmen of these three countries. Great Britain and France are ready to ratify these treaties. For the United States senate to reject them would be to block the progress of the world, whereas America, by her traditions and her situation is best fitted to become the leading peacemaker of the world.

"In view of the foregoing, Mr. Chairman, I beg to move that we citizens of Lowell and vicinity, and members of the Baptist churches therein, assembled 430 strong, hereby voice our conviction that the afore-mentioned treaties should be ratified, and that we

MADONNA STOLEN

VALUABLE PAINTING WAS TAKEN FROM MONASTERY

FLORENCE, Italy, Nov. 21.—The painting "Madonna Delle Stelle," by Fra Angelico, has been stolen from the monastery of San Marco, which has been transformed into a museum. The theft occurred Sunday night during a severe storm. When the storm was at an end a passerby saw a rope hanging from a window of the monastery. He gave the alarm and a search disclosed the loss of the picture. The locks of the door of the cell and the glass case in which the painting had been placed were broken.

Strangely enough the thief of thieves did not touch any of the other pictures in the museum. He gave the alarm and a search disclosed the loss of the picture. The locks of the door of the cell and the glass case in which the painting had been placed were broken.

A further examination disclosed a hole in the roof of the monastery, through which it was at first supposed, the thief entered, but it was found that the hole was made from the inside and that it was not large enough to permit of the passage of even a small man. It was therefore argued that it was made to mislead the investigators.

Five persons have been placed under arrest, among them the custodians of the museum. It is believed, however, that the theft had its inception in the International gang of thieves who are thought to have engineered the theft of Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" from the Louvre, Paris, last August.

They are composed of narcotics, bromides, opiates and their derivatives, and it is no wonder that many an innocent man suddenly finds himself in the powerful grip of a vicious habit, difficult or impossible to break.

WIFE ENTERS SUIT

Says Hotel Man Alienated Husband's Affections

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Alfred L. Scanton of Wellesley has brought a suit for $50,000 against John B. Quinn, manager of the hotel Essex, which, local lawyers say is unique in Massachusetts, and rare in any state in the country.

Mrs. Scanton alleges that Mr. Quinn influenced her husband to leave her. The suit is practically a suit for the alienation of her husband's affections, and would be nothing out of the ordinary were the defendant a woman, but the fact that a man is named makes the case noteworthy.

Mr. Quinn is wine steward at the Hotel Essex and came to that hotel from New York with Mr. Quinn. His wife claims that the influence exerted by Quinn over her husband began while the two were together in New York, and became more pronounced after they had come to this city.

She claims that Quinn has led her husband into wild ways and caused him to give up his wife. She claims that she has been left without food even, though her husband receives a liberal salary at the hotel.

Mrs. Scanton does not want a divorce from her husband, as she is very sure that he will return to her and conduct himself as he did before he met Quinn.

TRIED SUICIDE

WOMAN WAS MARRIED ONLY ONE MONTH AGO

TILTON, N. H., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Myrtle Brown, aged 35, who attempted to commit suicide late Sunday night at her home in Northfield by shooting, taking poison and cutting her throat, bids fair to recover, according to Dr. H. S. Beckford of Belmont, who was called to attend her.

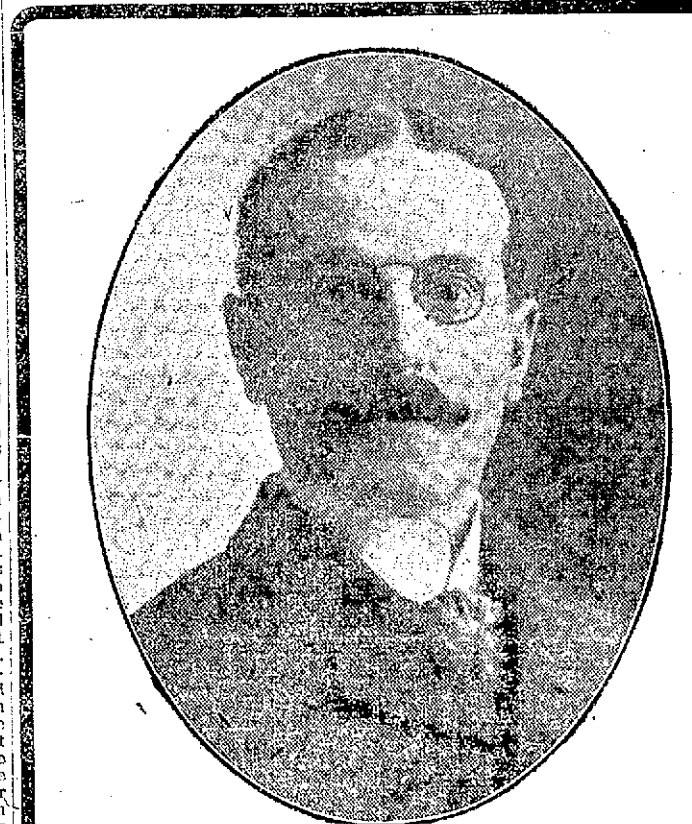

Mrs. Brown was married a few weeks ago. It is said that family troubles caused her to become despondent. She has been working in a hosiery mill at Belmont, her husband, D. A. Brown, taking her to and from work each day.

Sunday night he was asleep. She said that she was going to take a bath before retiring. He was awakened by the noise of a gun and, jumping from bed found his wife with cuts on her throat and wrists and her head and face bruised.

Yesterday Dr. Beckford found his patient in a comfortable condition. The most serious danger, he says, is from the poison.

Brown and his wife lived on the Odd Fellows place about two miles from Belmont. They were married less than a month ago by Justice of the Peace John M. Meserve of Tilton. The groom gave his residence as Lynn, Mass. Mrs. Brown had been married before, her name before her marriage being Myrtle Clark Plummer.

Remarkable Statement

Jimmie Gray Expected to Take a Chance

Plans Magazine to Encourage Poesy

The Fitchburg Sentinel is the authority for the statement that James J. Gray, who managed the Lowell Sun in 1911, is interested in the new league. The same paper also says that the promoters of the league have reached an agreement for a lease of the Fitchburg driving park grounds for the season.

The proposed new league is Fitchburg, Portland, Manchester, Salem, Nashua, Concord and two other cities. The Sentinel says this information was substantiated by Mr. Gray and President Wesley W. Sargent of the Fitchburg & Leominster street railway company. The season would start the first week in May and close on Labor day. It is to be in organized ball and will be a Class C league. Arthur W. Cooper is slated to manage the Fitchburg team; Tom McCarthy the team at Salem; Fred Lake in Manchester; Hugh Derry in Portland. Derry, though, is slated to manage the Milwaukee team so this part of the story is incredible. Mr. Gray says he isn't certain what he will do, whether he will remain in Lowell or not. If he stays in Lowell he will retain his interest in one of the new clubs.

The Sentinel also says that the Fitchburg Independents will be in the field again in 1912 and that the team will be run under the dual management of Mr. Jackson and Tommy Sellers, a former Lawrence boy.

Mr. Gray when seen in regard to the above stated that the matter had been put up to him but he had not made any decision as yet.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Poetry, the "Cinderella of the arts," is to be rescued from her ancestral attic and given a chance to break into high society just like her sisters, music, painting and sculpture. Miss Harriet Monroe announces the success of her plans for the establishment in Chicago of a magazine devoted solely to poetry. subsidized and supported as are the Art Institute and the grand opera. She already has thirty pledges of $250 each, to be paid in five annual installments, toward the support of the new magazine. With seventy more she will begin publication. Young and unknown poets will have the chance for a hearing which they and unknown artists get now in the annual exhibitions at the Art Institute.

BOGUS NOBLEMAN

Given Long Sentence in State Prison

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Phil de Clamecy, "M. D. Ph. D., D. Sc., C. E., M. E., sometime Lieutenant Colonel in the French army," was yesterday declared by Judge Sanderson to be a common and notorious thief and was sentenced to not more than 10 nor less than six years in the state prison at Charlestown.

"Count" de Clamecy pleaded guilty to four counts, each of which charged the passing by him of worthless checks on the Hotel Touraine. One of these checks, dated June 5, 1911, was for $12,500; another, dated June 4, was for $100, and two more, dated June 3, were for $200 and $500.

"Count" de Clamecy, who is undoubtedly a Frenchman, but whose claim to noble birth is seriously questioned, appeared in this city last June and made the Touraine his abiding place. He soon began to move about in official circles, was introduced to Mayor Fitzgerald, who turned him over to ex-Secretary Bourdier for automobile rides and a trip to Deer Island, where he wished to go to study that institution.

Through Edward Mulready, executive officer of the probation commission, he met Judge Burke of the municipal court, who invited him to sit on the bench with him. The "count" availed himself of this honor and remained on the bench throughout the day.

When the session of court was ended for the day, he invited Mr. Mulready and Mr. Sargent, probation officer in the municipal criminal court, to dine with him and with a French duke. They were unable, however, to take advantage of this privilege.

De Clamecy was arrested in New York for the Boston police by Inspector Griffin. Inspector Sheehan of the Boston police brought him here. While in New York Inspector Sheehan found that De Clamecy had passed checks on the Park Avenue hotel to the amount of $260, all drawn on the Commonwealth Trust company of Boston.

MADE BY JOHN P. SCOTT OF THIS CITY

One of the most interesting statements yet made in connection with the introduction of the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita," is that which was given recently by Mr. John P. Scott, No. 424 Court street, this city.

Mr. Scott said: "I didn't believe any medicine could help me quickly. I suffered with extreme nervousness, headaches and many other complaints. I lost my appetite and couldn't sleep soundly. My condition grew constantly worse and some time ago I was so run down that I thought I would have to give up my work entirely. I finally lost all energy and felt completely worn out and depressed."

"I heard about the good 'Tona Vita' was doing in Lowell and I decided to go to Hall & Lyon Drug Co. and get a bottle. I began improving as soon as I had taken three or four doses of the preparation. My nervousness has about all gone and I feel strong and thoroughly benefited. The last few days have been among the happiest I have ever spent. I don't believe I could praise 'Tona Vita' too much."

"The manner of living in the more thickly populated sections of the United States is such that nature finds it impossible to keep the human machine running true and strong day after day with its vitality being sapped by the constant nervous strain," said one of the specialists who is here introducing "Tona Vita." "Irregular hours, continued this specialist, 'hastily eaten food, the wear and tear and rush of the modern life, all are partially responsible for the immense amount of the dull, listless, half-sick people of the present generation. Debility, or a run down condition, as it is called, is everywhere. Half of the people I see in restaurants, street cars, theatres, or on the street, are unmistakably in a debilitated condition, and their nervous system drives them either to the down and rest or rush madly, after more excitement."

"The medicine we are introducing to combat this condition we believe to be the best preparation ever before sold to the public in that it is immediately effective in cases of debility, and the other troubles that go hand in hand with this disease. From 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. the specialists will continue to meet the public for a limited time, at the Hall & Lyon Drug company."

The number of boots and shoes of American type and thus American in the sense of form and method of manufacture sold in foreign countries is very much greater than that indicated by the mere figures of exportation. In actual exports of boots and shoes manufactured in the United States the total for the year which ends with the month of July, as above indicated, aggregate more than twelve million pairs, including in this figure those of rubber and those to our own non-contiguous territory.

Where do they go? Everywhere, apparently, where man wears boots and shoes—Japan, Korea, Siam, the Dutch East Indies, Egypt, Portuguese Africa, Liberia, the Belgian Congo, Assate Russia, Aden, German Oceania, British Guiana, Ecuador, Salvador, Costa Rica, Roumania, Turkey in Asia, China, British South Africa, Panama, the Straits Settlements, Spanish Africa, Bulgaria, Honduras, the Dutch West Indies, Hayti, Santo Domingo, Serbia, the Azores and Madeira Islands, to say nothing of the larger importers of our boots and shoes—Cuba, Mexico, England, Canada, Germany and France.

And these and many other interesting facts about the exportation of boots and shoes and many other articles of American manufacture are to be found in that interesting volume of the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and navigation of the United States, to no less than the United States to no less than eighty-five countries and colonies of the world and that the value of boots and shoes exported, which had never reached as much as a million dollars per annum prior to 1896, now exceeds for these exports from the United States twelve million dollars per annum and will in the current year amount to about fifteen million dollars in value, including those sent to the non-contiguous territory of the United States.

and it is to this we owe the value of twelve million dollars for boots and shoes of all kinds passing out of continental United States in the year which ends with next month.

The United Kingdom is the chief rival of the United States in exporting boots and shoes to the world. Her exports of boots and shoes are still greater both in total number of pairs and total value than those of the United States, but the growth in her case is far less rapid than that of this country.

This number of pairs exported from the United States in 1905 was 9,995,410; in 1910 13,079,652; the percentage of gain in the case of the United Kingdom being 61 per cent, and in the case of the United States, nearly 70 per cent. The value of leather boots and shoes exported from the United States, however, is more nearly identical with that of the exports from the United Kingdom, having been in the calendar year 1910 $18,217,227, against $14,741,000 for the United Kingdom; the average price per pair of shoes exported from the United States having been $1.69, against $1.12 for those exported from the United Kingdom.—Presidence Tribune.

LOWELL ARMORY

Under the auspices of Co. G, 6th regiment, M. V. M., those who visit the armory Thursday evening, Nov. 23, will have a rare treat. Preceding the exhibition of paintings by the celebrated French artist, Paul Philippoteaux, dealing with the Civil war.

Philippoteaux was among the foremost painters of Paris, where his paintings in the Salon were so highly esteemed that his fame became world wide.

In order to paint these various battle scenes he came to America and spent several months on the battlefields, taking sketches and drawings of the country, consulting the official maps of Washington and obtained from Generals Hancock, Doubleday and others, details of the battles as they really took place. He then returned to Paris and occupied two years in the painting of these great works of art.

Sergeant S. J. Simmons, who took part in any of these battles will add to the interest of the exhibition by relating the story of each painting as he actually experienced it.

More words cannot express their wonder and beauty and the opportunity to really see these original canvases should not be passed by.

Requests of Heads of Departments Were Turned Down

The appropriations committee met last night to consider appeals from heads of departments for more money. The superintendent of streets wanted $25,000, but he got nary a cent. The committee voted to have him confer with the city solicitor as to the legality of transferring money from one appropriation to another. It was figured that if the transfers could be made the street department might pull through without having to go to the city's wallet.

City Solicitor W. W. Duncan appeared before the committee and said that the appropriations made to his department for Hassan paving work have been exhausted. Three suits against the city are now pending and will be tried within a few weeks. Experts will have to be employed at figures ranging from $25 to $50 a day. It will take $500 to carry on the fight against the Hassan paving Co.

Mr. Duncan said he would need about $1000 to carry on the work of his department for the remainder of the year, that amount to be equally split between the Hassan paving and the grade crossing suits.

Mr. Duncan said he had already secured experts in the preparation of his cases.

Mr. Chapman moved that the sum of $1000 be recommended. It was so voted.

Mr. Gilmore of the cemetery department asked, by letter, for the appropriation of $622.15, this amount to go for labor, salaries, loan and sod, oats and sundries. Mr. Elliott moved that $625 be recommended, and it was so voted.

A communication relative to the city council fund was read. This stated that $1100 had been appropriated and of that there remains $119.77, with which to pay bills of $461.50. The sum of $341.73 is now needed. The matter was laid on the table temporarily.

Supt. Putnam said he should need $25,000 for the remainder of the year. Last Saturday night he was $5000 short on street department wages, and $3000 short in wages for sewer maintenance. The money to pay these deficits had been transferred. He would need $21,500 for street department wages, $1500 for wages for sewer watering and $3000 for wages for sewer department maintenance. Questioned relative to appropriations for bridge repairs, Mr. Putnam said it is now getting very late to do work on the Market street bridge. He also said that the appropriations for macadam roads would probably not all be used if cold weather sets in shortly.

It was voted to ask the superintendent of streets to confer with the city solicitor relative to the status of resolutions after the transfer of money from one appropriation to another.

The sum of $3300 for salaries and $6200 for the fitting up of the school was asked for the industrial school and it was voted.

The board of charities asked for $5000, an increase of $2000 over what was asked for last year.

The communication from William A. McEvoy, in which he agreed to sell land at the corner of Livingston and Newhall streets for $3000 for playground purposes was read. The land in question is at the rear of the Butler school. Prior to the joint committee on appropriations looking into the matter, Mr. McEvoy had agreed to sell the land to the park department for $2200. It is assessed for $2800. The area is 20,028 square feet.

Mr. Chapman said the money would have to be borrowed if the land is to be purchased, and Mr. Daly was averse to borrowing any money at this time unless it was necessary.

"Sewer and street work will demand a great deal now," said Mr. Elliott. No action was taken.

A TONIC FOR THE STOMACH

Many People Who Think They Are Dyspeptics Need Only to Have Their Digestive Apparatus Toned Up.

Much of the dieting and treatment for stomach trouble is worse than the disease and often aggravates it. Tonic up the stomach to do its part rather than cut down the diet to suit a weak stomach. Reduced nourishment means reduced strength for the entire system including the stomach. To restore the weak stomach to strength and health, it must be supplied with plenty of pure, red blood, for every act of digestion needs healthy blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People meet all the requirements of a good tonic for the stomach because they are an unequalled blood-builder. The pure, rich blood which they make stimulates and increases the flow of the digestive fluids, removes any irritability of the stomach, soothes and strengthens the nerves, and supplies the stomach with the needed strength.

Mr. Howard S. Urban, a blacksmith, of Wrightsville, York Co., Pa., who was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, says:

"Some time ago I began to be troubled with indigestion and my stomach became so weak that I frequently had to vomit after eating. Food I like a dead weight in my stomach and would ferment, causing gas to form. I was troubled with dizziness and when I straightened up suddenly after bending over, I would see black specks before my eyes."

"It was under a doctor's care more or less of the time for six months but he failed to cure me. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in a book and concluded to try them. I used several boxes of the pills, as they helped me from the first, and was completely cured."

For a more complete explanation of the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in stomach troubles, send today for a free copy of our booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should also be used in anemia, rheumatism, nervousness and stiffness because of their power to make rich, new blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

GENERAL CHANG, COMMANDER OF CHINESE LOYALIST TROOPS, READY TO DEFEND NANKING

NANKING, Nov. 21.—General Chang, commander of the loyalist troops here, is preparing to defend the city against an expected attack of the revolutionary army. Strong defenses have been thrown up at Pukow, and General Chang is confident that he will

SCOTT TAILORING CO.

227 Central Street, Lowell

FOR COLD, HARD CASH

With the high hopes and fond aspirations of youth, the people of Lowell saw the SCOTT TAILORING CO. make their debut but a few short weeks ago. History makes fast. You saw their wholesome enthusiasm, their boundless ambition, their careless energy. Outwardly you saw all the characteristics that people have learned to admire and to associate with success. You didn't see behind the scenes—the internal structural weakness that renders enthusiasm, ambition and energy ineffectual—that blights hopes and aspirations, ere they pass the flimsy stage of dreams.

It is one thing to open a tailoring store stocked with high priced wools and it is another thing to keep it open.

It is one thing to give the people fancy wools at low prices and it is another thing to make money on the transaction.

It is one thing for Mitchell, the Tailor, to make a success and it is another thing for imitators to imitate that success.

Napoleon used to say he knew twenty ways to put an army into England, but not one way to get the army out again.

Minus the hopes, ambitions and aspirations of the Scott Tailoring Co., I today offer the people of Lowell this beautiful stock of wools at Mitchell's prices. Bought originally to market for $15, $18, $20 and $25 to order, at these figures even the stock showed a loss to the Scott people. By the cold, hard cash route, Mitchell, the Tailor, acquires those same wools and offers them at a price to net 5 to 7 per cent. profit on the investment.

N. B.—Bought by the Scott people but eight short weeks ago, these wools, of course, are only the latest weaves the woolen industry knew how to make, offered in toto—take your choice.

Worsteds, Scotches, Cassimeres, Black and Blue Serges, Pencil Stripe Blues, all the latest creations in Browns and Greys. Overcoatings in all the latest shades. Made any way you desire. Scott Tailoring Company's prices—$15 to $25. Mitchell price, made to order, ten dollars.

HOUSE WAS BURNED

Child Dead, and Parents and Two Little Ones Injured

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 21.—Fire which destroyed the residence of Luke Madden on Linden street last night resulted in the death of a child of four years and serious injuries to Madden and his wife and two other children. Mrs. Madden is so badly injured and old daughter Helen, the entire family were asleep on the second floor of the house when the fire started. They were unable to reach the street floor because of the flames and made their way to the roof, where they literally rolled off onto the frozen ground below. Living Torches After the rest of the family had retired, Helen, who is a schoolgirl started for her room to study her lessons. Her room was cold and so she secured an oil stove, which she lighted before starting upstairs. The stove leaked and all the way up the stairs left a trail of oil. As she reached the top stair she stumbled and fell, dropping the stove, which exploded and threw burning oil in every direction. The blaze followed the oil down over the stairs and in a moment it seemed as if the entire house was a mass of flames. When the shouts of her daughter awakened Mrs. Madden, she jumped from her bed, and grabbing up her baby, Farrell, started for the window. The heat of the fire was so intense and the smoke so thick that she was partially overcome and in some manner the baby slipped from her arms into the cauldron of fire. Later the body was found burned to a crisp. The woman herself was barely able to reach the piazza roof, from which she rolled to the ground, followed a few moments later by her husband and two daughters, all of whom were flaming torches. Shouting "Fire! Fire!" After a time the mother aroused herself sufficiently to crawl on her hands and knees across the road toward the home of Samuel White, all the time feebly shouting "Fire! Fire!" White heard the woman's cries and went to her assistance. After carrying her into the house he returned and found the father making desperate efforts to cross the street, he, too, being unable to walk. The two girls he found lying on the lawn unconscious. Although herself in a dying condition, Mrs. Madden repeatedly called for her baby, and to ease her William Connors, another neighbor, made an attempt to reach the room where the child had been dropped, but he was again driven back by the flames. After the fire had died down some- what, two firemen, Early Boyd and John Chapman, made their way into the house through the upper window and recovered the burned body of the baby. Meanwhile the injured had been taken to the hospital at North Adams. The Madden home was practically destroyed with all its furnishings. The building was a two-story frame structure and was valued at about $4000. Madden is a laborer in moderate circumstances.

SAVED CHILD FROM DEATH
"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote Dr. T. K. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, N. H., "we feared it had consumed. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctors' medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, lagrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by A. W. Dows & Co.

KIRBY ELECTED

HE WAS CHOSEN HEAD OF THE A. A. U.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Gustava T. Kirby of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the International A. A. U., was elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States yesterday. He defeated George F. Pawling of Philadelphia, president of the Middle Atlantic Association, by a vote of 22 to 6. The election took place at the 24th annual meeting of the A. A. U., which convened here yesterday with delegates in attendance from all parts of the country. Mr. Kirby will succeed Everett C. Brown of Chicago. Four vice presidents of the Union also were elected, as follows: First, A. J. Lili, St. Joseph, Mo.; second, Dr. B. M. Horkelson, Baltimore, Md.; third, George James, Olympia, W. C. San Francisco; fourth, John J. O'Connor, Missouri A. C., St. Louis. James E. Sullivan was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Former Teacher Arrested at Cranston, R. I.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Upon his release yesterday from the Rhode Island state prison at Cranston, where he had completed a three months' sentence for forgery, Alonzo N. Stevens, aged 26, formerly principal of the grammar school and secretary of the Y. M. C. U. A., was arrested by Inspector McGuire of Providence on two warrants from Boston. Stevens waived the right to demand requisition and was brought to this city by Inspector Walter Abbott of the bureau of criminal investigation.

Stevens is under indictment here on charges of forgery and uttering. It being alleged he defrauded one of the big department stores and the proprietors of the Parker House out of several hundred dollars early in August. He was arraigned before Judge Sanderson in superior court late in the afternoon and bail was fixed at $2000. It is charged Stevens forged the name of H. W. Carlton, a friend, to checks that he distributed in this city and Newport. Mr. Carlton is a director in the Camden National bank and is president of the Rockport, Y. M. C. U. A. It is said Mr. Carlton had implicit confidence in the young schoolmaster until after the latter left Rockport in August.

The question of prison stripes for trust magnates is hardly one on which the government can take an affirmative stand for the reason that it has favored the trust tariff, has shielded the trusts in the past and taken their money in lieu of the special privileges. The republican party, the ally of the trusts, cannot be expected to institute criminal proceedings against trust magnates with whom it has had a political alliance for twenty years—not if a civil suit will serve to meet the popular demand.

President Taft is conferring with his tariff board on the question of finding some campaign material on the tariff that will help him in the coming fight. Every republican board of that kind knows just what its duties are. This particular board will have to produce facts and figures to show that the president's vetoes were right and that calamity must follow defeat of the republican party. This must be demonstrated from data secured by the tariff board from manufacturers who are loath to part with the special privileges by which they have been fleecing the people. It will be a case of where figures must lie.

PRICES HIGHER THAN IN WAR TIMES

A Washington authority has looked up the prices of the necessities of life in war times and finds that they were not nearly so high as the present prices for the same articles as the following table will show. In eight of the common articles here named the first price is that of war times, the second the present price:—

Barrel flour, $4.10; $5.75. Hams, 14c lb.; 29c to 28c. Lard, 8c @ 12c lb.; 12c to 15c. Cheese, 14c lb.; 25c to 35c. Sugar, 10c to 18c lb.; 5c to 8c. Beef, 6½c lb.; 15c. Shoulders, 5c lb.; 20c. Coffee, 13c to 16c lb.; 20c to 40c.

USE THE CHARTER ARIGHT

Now that we have the new charter it remains to be seen whether we shall make the best use of it or show such a scramble for the offices that many citizens will lose the main point and throw their votes away on worthless candidates.

For the first time in many years, as a result of the new charter, we have a sufficient number of candidates from which to select, but there are so many weak candidates mixed with the strong that some voters may be led to vote for men who, if elected, could do little more than draw the salary.

Here then will come the test of the voters' judgment. Do not vote for a candidate because he is from your ward or just because you happen to know him if you are not positive that he will make a good public servant. To do otherwise will help to defeat the movement for good government.

WHAT ARE THE ISSUES?

What are the issues in the coming election? There is no issue but one and that is sufficient. It is whether we shall have good government or bad at city hall. By good government we mean an administration that will take up public questions and decide them promptly in an able and intelligent manner. To do this we must elect men of affairs, not men who have no business of their own, not men who from lack of experience will be unable to render service to the city in some degree proportioned to the salary to be paid.

The man elected under the new charter will have to assume greater responsibility than under the old. Instead of being a cog in the fourth wheel of a large machine, he will be a whole wheel in the new machine. Instead of helping to run one department he will have charge of several departments and be responsible for them. That is why no man without large business experience should be elected under the new charter. To elect an incompetent man would be a reflection upon the popular judgment. Therefore each voter will have to be more careful in regard to the ability and standing of those for whom he shall vote than in any former election.

A WORD TO THE WOMEN VOTERS

Now that a large number of women have registered in order to vote for members of the school board, it remains to be seen whether they will exercise wise judgment or whether they will vote for candidates who are not qualified to sit in the school board. The women, as well as the men, should remember that education like water does not rise above its own level and that it is difficult to see how a man whose education is very deficient can conduct the educational institutions of our city in an intelligent manner. The women now have an opportunity to set a good example to the men for the latter have in many cases shown very poor judgment in selecting members of the school board.

We understand that a number of young men who intended to run for the school board in ward contests had the old charter remained in force, have been very active in getting the women out to register. We feel justified here in stating that some of these candidates should not be considered in any school board contest, and the women will make a great mistake by voting for them. In case of the school board the same rule applies as to the aldermen. As well throw your vote away as vote for a weak candidate. If you cast your ballot for one of the leaders you may have some part in settling whose names shall go on the ballot on election day, but by voting for a weak candidate you will only add to the complimentary vote of an "also ran."

It is difficult to understand why some of the candidates are running, but they may have reasons of their own or they may think that under the new charter, as under the old, qualifications are of no account, and that a candidate wholly unfitted for the position he seeks is just as likely to be elected as one who is eminently fitted. This is what we have been trying to get away from by the adoption of the new charter, and it is to be hoped that the women who vote for school committee will show better judgment than the men have shown in the past.

SEEN AND HEARD

A pastor in Charlestown received a circular from a New York whiskey house asking him to send the names of some friends who he thought might want some of the beverage. As a joke the preacher sent the names of a dozen men, mostly members of his church. He was astonished a week later, to receive a letter inclosing $8 as his commission on six sales and expressing the dealer's thanks.

Many of our familiar everyday words have come long distances. Calico takes its name from Calicut, a city in India. Satin is from Zaytoon, in China. Damask was first made at Damascus, in Syria. Gaiuse is from Gaza, in Palestine, and betzo from Baza, in Spain. Dimity is called after Damietta, in Egypt. Cambric was first made at Cambria, in France, and muslin at Mosul, in Asia.

Serge got its name from Xerga, a Spanish word. Velvet is our equivalent of the Italian word, veluta, and gingham is from Gingham, a town in Brittany, where the cloth was first used for umbrella covers.

Cashmere gets its name from the valley of Cashmere, in the Himalayas; buckram from Bokhara, law from Laon in France and khaki is the Indian word for earth.

But we have many home-made names of fabrics. Tweed was originally the product of the weavers of the Tweed, melton was first made at the town of that name in Leicestershire. Worsted is from Worstead, famed for its fine wool yarns. Cheviot was originally a cloth made from the wool of the Cheviot Hills, and blankets got their name from their original English manufacturer—Thomas Blanket.

Mrs. Newwood—My dear, as you said you must do everything possible to economize, I have been at work turning my old dresses, and I can make most of them do another year. It won't take me over six weeks to get through, and then I'll reshape and return my old bonnets.

Mr. Newwood—That's very sensible, I must say. Mrs. Newwood—I have also been trying some waxed thread and a coarse needle on my old shoes, and I believe they'll last six months longer; and I've turned that old curtain we bought second hand and given it a thorough washing, so that it will do very nicely; and I'm going to make some curtains for the upstairs windows to avoid buying new ones.

Mr. Newwood—Eminently sensible, my dear. Mrs. Newwood—And I've sent off the washerwoman and discharged the hired girl. I will do all the work myself.

Mr. Newwood—You're an angel, my love! Mrs. Newwood—And I took that box of imported cigars you bought and traded them for two boxes of cheaper ones.

Mr. Newwood—Now, see here! Economy is a good thing, but there is no need of your becoming an unreasonable, fanatical monomaniac on the subject.

"The female of the species is more deadly than the male."—Rudyard Kipling.

When the women of the city have a candidate in view.

They go out to show the sterner sex what women's votes will do. They don't allow their interest to grow the least bit stale.

For the female "voterino" is more earnest than the male. It goes in everything in life, no matter what you say.

You'll find the little "shemale" is bound to have her way. And when it comes to voting, no matter what her mind; The male she doesn't vote for will be the male behind.

GOD BLESS HIM

Here's to the man who smiles on you And gives you a cherry "howdy-do;" And falls in step when you're walking lame.

From the bristles in the world's rough game; The man who gives your hand a grasp; Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do;" And makes the world grow brighter for you.

Here's to the man you chance to meet In busy mart or the crowded street; When you are fairly down and out; And lost in more of deepest doubt;

Who slaps your back and cries "hello!" With face alight with friendship's glow; Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do;" And makes life take a brighter hue.

Here's to the man of big brave heart Who comes from the crowd to step apart

And lend a hand to the man who fell To the very brink of the lowest hell;

Who says "Hello! what cheer, old scout?" And helps him up to the right about. Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And starts him off on the way anew.

Here's to the man unknown to fame Who loves all men and plays the game Of this life square, and seems to make A profit big from a friend's mistake; Whose eyes light up when he comes your way.

And passes a pleasant time o' day; Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And smiles, and gives new strength to you.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Springfield Republican: Gov. Harcourt's popularity in Wall street and with James Smith, Jr., of New Jersey, not to mention Tim Sullivan of the Bowers, is becoming pathetic. He deserves a kinder fate than to be lashed down with the enthusiastic support of such an unwholy alliance. Gov. Wilson has critics and enemies, but he is fortunate in that his friends do not embrace any of the janissaries of the "plunderbund."

ENGLISH EXAMPLE

N. Y. Evening Post: The one man tentatively accepted for the McNamara jury, Wednesday, is described as a farmer of English birth who expressed great respect for institutions and laws. His explanation was of the briefest. Whether he is later to be dismissed by a peremptory challenge or not, the incident is the bright spot in the case. One can imagine the relief with which judge, counsel, prisoner, court officers and spectators alike must have heard his avowal. Scores of talesmen have professed admiration for labor unions or capitalistic enterprise or doubt concerning the desirability of the death penalty or circumstantial evidence, but it has been left for an English-born farmer to confess esteem for the whole system of the law under which capital and labor exist, as it is unparaphrased to wish that this had come from native American lips?

ASK THE SUPREME COURT

Los Angeles Tribune: The government has asked the supreme court to say that running a corner on a stock exchange is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. All we need to do in this country is to go to the supreme court in a proper spirit of humility. If it fails to give us what we want, it is, we may be sure, because it isn't best for us to have it.

EXPORT OF RAISINS

DURING PAST FISCAL YEAR VALUED AT $1,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—More than one million dollars worth of raisins were exported from the United States in the last fiscal year, the quantity, 18½ million pounds, being far in excess of the total exported in any earlier year. The imports during the year amounted to only 2½ million pounds, against 10 million pounds in 1900 and as high as 50 million pounds in certain years prior to the development of production in the United States. Comparing 1911 with 1900, the figures of the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor show that exports grew from 2½ million pounds to over 18½ million pounds, and their value, from $140,000 to $1,000,000. During the same period imports of raisins fell from 10 1-3 million pounds in 1900 to 2½ million in 1911, and their value, from $351,000 to $237,000. The largest exportation of raisins recorded in any year prior to 1911 was that of 1907, a little over 9 million pounds, or less than half that of 1911, while the largest importation of raisins on record is that of 1884, when a total of 51 million pounds entered the country, as against but 2½ million pounds in the fiscal year 1911.

Canada is by far the largest market for American raisins exported, the exports thereto in the fiscal year 1911 having been 11 million pounds, compared with less than three million to New Zealand, about 1 million each to England and Germany, and 3 million pounds to all other parts of the world. Of the 2½ million pounds imported last year, Spain, England, and Russia, and Asiatic Turkey were the chief sources, the first named country being credited with over 1 million pounds, and the others less than a half million pounds each. These figures contrast with those of 1884 when of nearly 51 million pounds of raisins imported, Spain was credited with 47½ million pounds; England, 3½ million; and Italy, nearly 2 million pounds.

The marked falling off in importations of raisins is the result of the rapid increase in domestic production, which first attained commercial importance in the early 'seventies. The American raisin industry had its beginning in the great San Joaquin valley and certain counties of southern California, which is still the chief producing area in the United States. In 1873 the California crop was but 120,000 pounds; by 1880 it had grown to 1,500,000 pounds; by 1890, 33,000,000 pounds; by 1900, to 90,000,000 pounds, and in the later years has risen as high as 140,000,000 pounds in 1907 and 1909, and fallen as low as 75,000,000 pounds in 1904, the figure for 1910 being 112,000,000 pounds. These figures of production are supplied by Mr. Robert Robertson, statistician of Fresno county, California, and are here quoted in the absence of official data covering the production in the United States as a whole.

BARBER ACCUSED

SNIPPED BRAID OF HAIR FROM SCHOOL GIRL'S HEAD

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Drugged off a trolley car after two 14-year-old school girls had complained that he had snipped a six-inch braid from the hair of one of them, John R. Derby, a 46-year-old barber, out of employment, was late yesterday held in front of the American house by a crowd of a hundred men until a police officer arrived. Shortly before 5 o'clock the two girls, Martha Hoffman of 91 Chambers street in the West End and Mollie Eggleton of 22 North Russell street, left a North End drug store, when it is alleged Derby, with a long pair of barber's shears hidden in his side pocket, snipped a piece of heavy braid hanging down the back of the Hoffman girl.

MURDER IS CHARGED

Mess Steward Charged With Murder of a Negro Sailor

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—The United States circuit court today looked like the deck of a warship today for it was crowded with seamen and naval officers summoned as witnesses at the trial of Mess Steward James Becka, a negro of Atlanta, Ga., charged with the murder of Alexander Allen, a negro of Brooklyn, on the battleship Nebraska while she lay at the Charlestown navy yard May 9th last.

Later the naval witnesses were excluded and the work of empanelling a jury was begun. Allen was shot just after a quarrel with Becka. It was claimed by the defense that Becka acted in self defense and that Allen was about to strike him with an iron bar. The jury was taken to the navy yard and shown the scene of the murder on the deck of the Nebraska.

FIRE ON LUSITANIA

PASSENGERS WERE DRIVEN FROM THEIR CABINS

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 21.—An outbreak of fire occurred on the Cunard liner Lusitania, which left Liverpool on Saturday, bound for New York via Queenstown.

The fire was caused by a short circuit in the second cabin soon after the steamer left the Mersey. It was located in one of the staterooms and almost immediately all the second cabin lights went out.

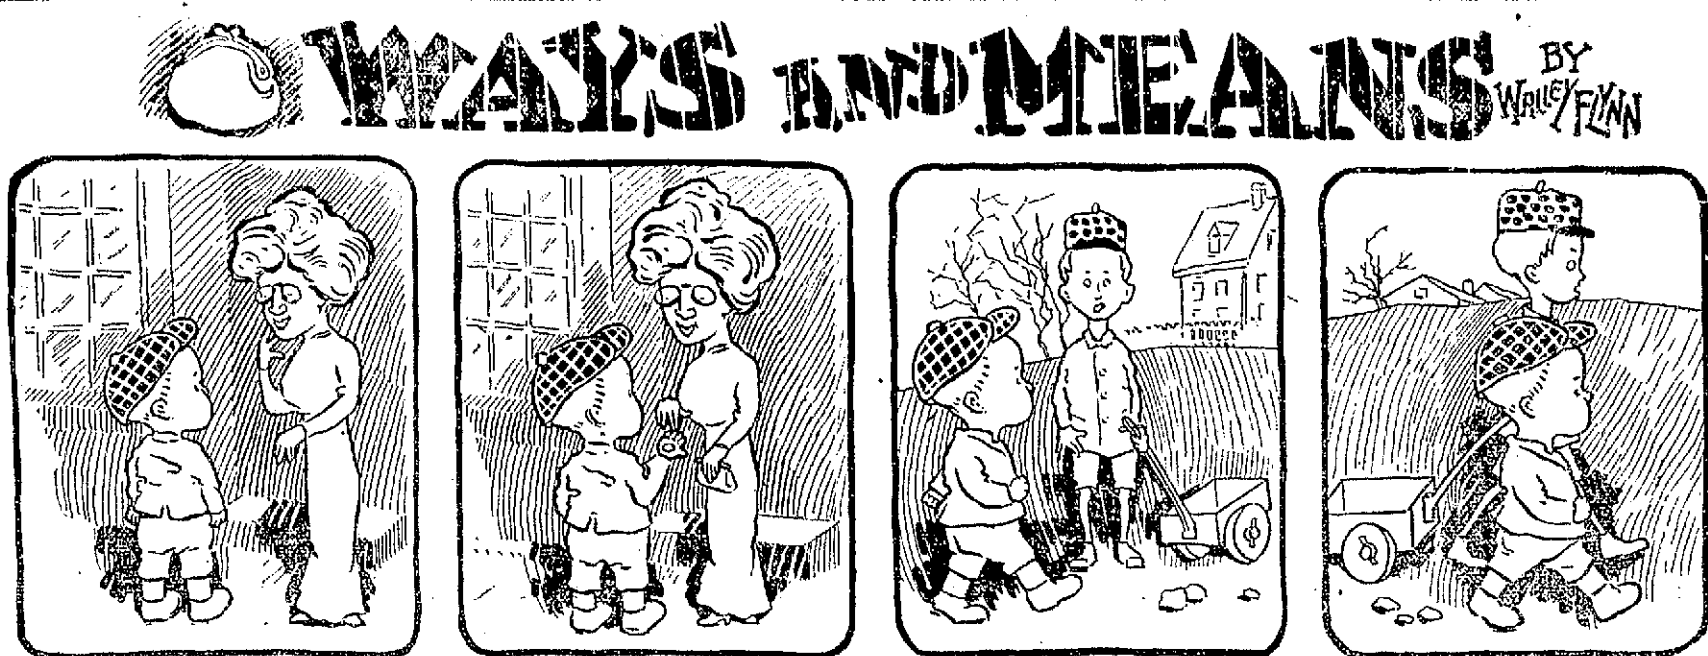

A thick, pungent smoke drove the passengers to the decks. The engines

AUTO WRECKED

PARTY WAS ON WAY HOME FROM YALE GAME

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 21.—A big touring car, carrying a New York number, which came here following the football game in New Haven Saturday, came to grief and turned over in Platt's hills, two miles south of here, last night, trying to avoid a motor cyclist. The car, the police say, was heroically run into the fence to avoid injury to the cyclist and was much damaged.

It is believed the car belonged to Herman F. Rogers, of New York city, and with him were Stuart Brown, Jr., of Pittsburgh; J. Griswold Webb, of New York; and two others, said to be D. C. Hayward and F. A. Craig, of Boston and Worcester respectively. The men were all more or less shaken up, and two were painfully bruised, but all were able to go home.

Zephram, I want you to do an errand for me. Yes Ma'am.

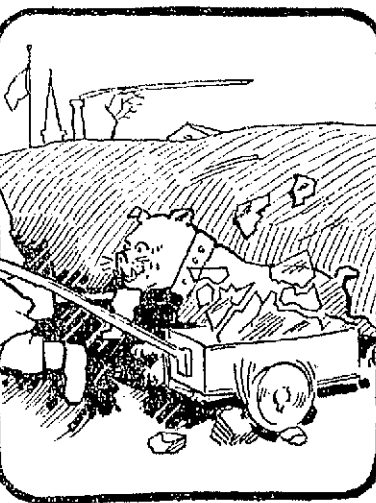

Go to the store and order a light of window glass 12x18. Yes Ma'am.

Where you goin' Zephram? To the store for glass.

I'll help you lug it home. Alright, come along.

Heavens! Look at dat big dorg. O, let's hurry.

It's all off, the glass is broken Zephram. Yep, I see where I get mine.

D., chancellor of the American university of Washington; D. C. Hon. Charles S. Baxter, former mayor of Bedford; Rev. Dr. Geo. H. Spencer, district superintendent of the Cambridge district of the M. E. churches. The address of welcome will be delivered by Rev. Arthur Bonner, pastor of the church. An entertainment program will be given after the discourses and an orchestra will also be in attendance.

A NOVEL POINT

TO BE RAISED IN CASE OF MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The interesting question of whether the father of a girl is justified in taking the life of the man who betrays her and refuses to marry will come up in the case of Frank McMahon, who was placed on trial here today, charged with the murder of George A. Leary. McMahon is a saloonkeeper and Leary was a well-to-do dealer in real estate. Leary was shot dead on a street corner last May. McMahon when arrested said that Leary had betrayed his daughter and had insulted him when he asked Leary to marry the girl. The shooting occurred a month after a child had been born.

RUSSELL IS DEAD

Was Owner of Boston National Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—William Hopburn Russell, principal owner of the Boston National League Baseball club and a well known lawyer in this city, died at his home early today, after a brief illness. He was 54 years old and was born in Hingham, Mo.

Mr. Russell had been in poor health for the past year. Angina pectoris was the immediate cause of his death which occurred this morning. He had been confined to the house for the past two weeks.

Mr. Russell was for many years an active force in politics and in later years he became interested in professional baseball. After leaving school he engaged in newspaper work at Hingham until 1882, when he was admitted to the bar. The same year he became city attorney of Hingham. He was re-elected in 1884 but soon he resigned to become general attorney for the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago railroad. He practiced law successively at Lafayette, Ind., and Chattanooga, Tenn., coming to New York in 1895.

In 1902 Mr. Russell was a democratic presidential elector. In 1901 he was chairman of the Greater New York Democracy, an organization formed to overthrow Tammany Hall. He was a member of the Elks and the Knights of Pythias. In 1889 he married Mary Abbott of Hingham. Mr. Russell leaves a wife, five daughters and one son. The date of the funeral, which will be private, has not been set.

The disposition of Mr. Russell's interests in the Boston club will be made known when the will is made public.

ADVERSE REPORT

ON RESOLUTION TO ASK GOM-PERS TO QUIT CIVIC FEDERATION

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 21.—An adverse report on the resolution demanding that President Gompers and 11 other officials of the American Federation of Labor sever connections with the National Civic Federation is expected at today's session of the federation. As the original resolution was introduced in behalf of the United Mineworkers and is said to have the support of the Western Federation of Miners and state delegations of Colorado, Utah and Michigan, heated discussion is expected when the matter is precipitated.

BANKERS MET

ANNUAL CONVENTION OPENED IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21.—The first business session of the 37th annual convention of the American bankers association convention opened at 10 a. m. The program today included addresses of welcome by Governor Sanders of Louisiana and J. M. Wansley, president of the New Orleans clearing house, and a response by former Governor Herrick of Ohio; the annual address of President Wallis and reports of committees and the executive council. Addresses by former United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island and several leading bank authorities will round out the first day's sessions.

At the meeting of the executive council yesterday a resolution approving the proposed plan for monetary reform as set forth by Chairman Aldrich of the national monetary commission was unanimously adopted.

The resolution probably will be presented to the convention today. A peculiar situation has arisen with regard to the cotton bill of lading question. The only member of the bill of lading committee who has shown up for the convention is Fred I. Kent of New York. It is reported that Mr. Kent will present a resolution to the convention seeking an endorsement of the Haight central bureau plan. The presentation of such a resolution will probably precipitate a lively debate.

of the prettiest musical acts seen here this season. Both are harpists, the harp being an instrument seldom seen on the vaudeville stage. They travel through the world, bringing from the East a new and rare music, and their exquisite fingers it is a duty and pleasure to hear. They are of the East and will be greatly enjoyed by all. Monroe and Mark, "The New Recruits," do a knockabout darker dialect act, all the more enjoyable because these acts are seldom seen in vaudeville now. They are a scream from start to finish. Sweden and Niguen, who sent a funny girl to England, have a new act, and the most of it is new. Red Sox quartet are 14 members of the Elks and Knights of Columbus, and on Thursday night the Elks will honor them by appearing in a body, while many of the Knights of Columbus will be on hand that night as well.

those of the past in many ways and one that is fully appreciated by the large audiences. The program is headed by a very interesting and at the same time dangerous act, that of the New York Hippodrome lions. These lions, five in number, and all perfect specimens of their kind, appear in a large iron cage which occupies the entire stage, and in their mistral standard their trainer, Mr. Glass, The act which they give is most enjoyable, despite the fact that great danger attends it. The trainer exercises the greatest care in handling these beasts and is ever on the lookout for a sudden swing of the paw. The animal handlers are pumped up to perform many other interesting feats. The act is pronounced a very good one.

Our Stock company presents this week "Al the Capitol," Miss Louise Rogers Stanwood's latest sketch, a net play that is well received. The cast includes Miss Constance Jackson as Al Wood, the play deals with a young man whose father died after placing him in the care of Senator Rutherford. The young man seeks to get the senator's sanction to his marriage with a girl, a netress. The senator is opposed to the match greatly because of the young woman's connection with the stage. His own wife was similarly situated when he married her and because of the result of misunderstandings he encountered in his early life he has always held rather unfavorable views of actresses. The young woman knows of the opposition of the senator and she calls on him, during one of his busy days for the purpose of securing his approval of her marriage to his ward. The meeting is marked with a decided disposition on the part of the senator to deny the young woman's claim for the proposed marriage. The young woman very cleverly meets the man at every point and soon convinces him that she is equal in all emergencies. As a climax to their meeting the senator discovers through the presence of a locke, evidence of the girl's identity as the daughter of his own daughter. The young man who previously left the Rostand's play "Hanchette" will reach the Lowell Opera House on December 5th, produced by Mr. Charles Frohman with Maudie Adams in the title role. As the play received such a heralding criticism as to its style, it promised it, spoken of as a piece of great simplicity, or extraordinary complexity. Yet despite the thousands of questions raised, one query has remained unanswered. Why did Rostand die to not reach an audience before the public? The reason is not far to seek. Rostand desired to write a poetic drama of modern life; he wished to be a duty, patriotism, antipathy to the French Revolution, to paint in a dramatic the day when the Eddie Foy and even Sarah Bernhardt might sing a comic song if they essayed the task. She is a finished artist at the age of 21, an actress of experience, vital intelligence and legitimate methods. She can sound the depths of pathos where it is necessary, as well as point a merry quip in manner to raise the entire house to a gale of laughter.

The play, "Mutt and Jeff" is a musical comedy of unusual strength, requiring the services of more than half a hundred artists, including a chorus of stunningly pretty girls and distinctly a laughing show, and the acknowledged novelty of the year.

Tickets for Thanksgiving day at the Opera House are now on sale at the box office and there is already a lively demand for seats. The attraction will be the lively western comedy drama "Billy the Kid," a drama not unknown to local theatregoers and one with an abundance of comedy, exciting scenes and situations.

For Tuesday afternoon and evening Nov. 23th, the attraction booked at the Lowell Opera House is the play billed as the great moral drama of the century, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." This company is under the management of the Holden Bros. and will be presented here at popular prices. Seats for these performances will go on sale Thursday morning.

The demand for additional performances of "The Battle" at the Theatre Vieux was so great that this sensational film has been brought back to the first place on the program. Without a doubt the greatest war picture ever staged and one who has rebelled in his veins cannot fail to catch the most exciting thrills of this masterpiece of stage craft. Over five hundred men and horses are used in the battle scenes and the action is so realistic that with magnificence that is surpassed by any other picture.

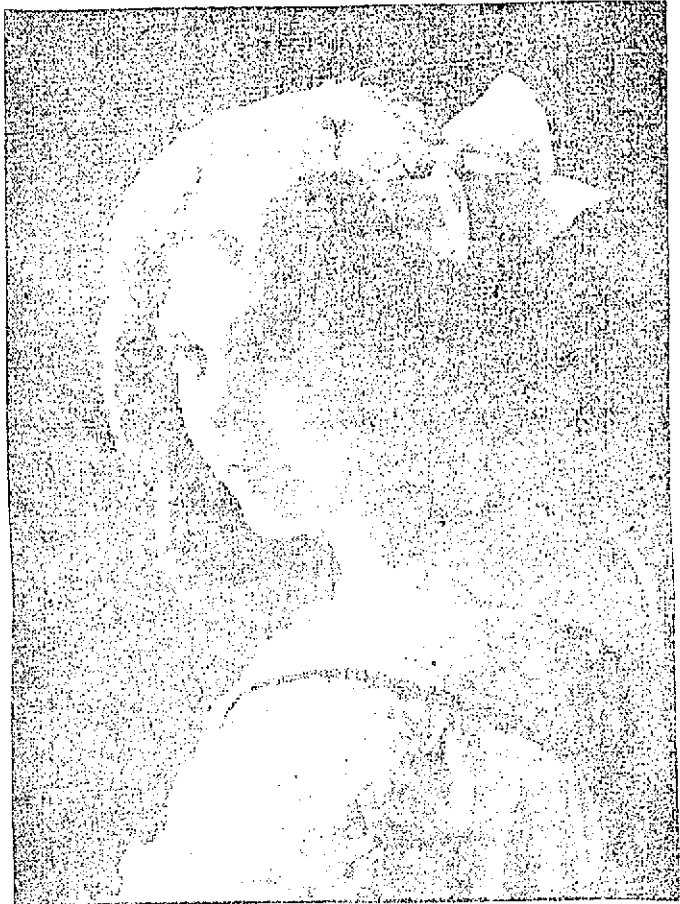

Another feature that will interest hundreds is "The Story of the Typewriter" which not only tells of the early struggles of the inventor of the writing machine but takes one on a truly thrilling ride to the origin of the modern typewriter. It shows the progress of hundreds of men in an interesting process which are necessary to the completion of this mechanical marvel.

A very enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hrien, 124 High street, Friday evening, when their daughter Lillian presented a beautiful bracelet by a large number of her friends. There were songs by the Misses Vera O'Brien and May Wynne. Miss Flora Wray gave a selection on the piano. Emma Roberts and Stephen Corbett made great hit by singing "I Want a Girl." Those in charge of the affair were Mesdames Helen Corbett and Margaret Dunn. Miss Evelyn Barry was the compaigner for the piano.

AYER

Burglars entered the drug store William Brown late Friday night early Saturday morning, gaining entrance through a rear door and took fur overcoat, $8 in money, and a box of chocolates.

"Oh, now I know why you look so young tonight," I exclaimed to a woman friend of mine. "You have developed the gray hair of youth." "That's wrong," she replied, laughing. "That's all as I've wanted to get rid of my unbecoming gray hair, I should say. I used to use any hair. My physician advised against it, saying the hair contained poisonous mineral eyes that entering the scalp pores would be almost certain to produce blood poisoning. I used it until you read what I use. Just plain, ordinary lavona de compose, which as I understand it, is merely the pure, concentrated extract of the Fernambuco shrub, a tree of whose hair had been restored to natural color recommended its use and I thought I'd try. You know how uneven my hair was, streaked and spotted and uneven and streaked and though I am but 33 it made me feel like an old woman. Well, following the advice of my friend, I mixed the roughly 2 oz. of lavona de compose with 6 oz. of Bay Rum and one-half dr. Almond Oil. Crystals and allowed to stand in a glass bottle for about two weeks ago, applying twice daily and rubbing briskly all through the hair and into the scalp, with my finger tips. I do not know how long it took, but my hair turning rapidly to their old natural chestnut color and today there is hardly a gray hair on my head. I am 35 years old, and I don't dream to say that lavona invigorates the color, so and the restoration is purely natural. It is making my hair grow very rapidly." Elizabeth White in Modern Modes.

LOUISE LANGDON

"The attraction this week at the Hathaway Theatre is Anthony Wills' interesting comedy-drama, "The Struggle," a play replete with human interest and clothed with good comedy.

The cast is as follows:

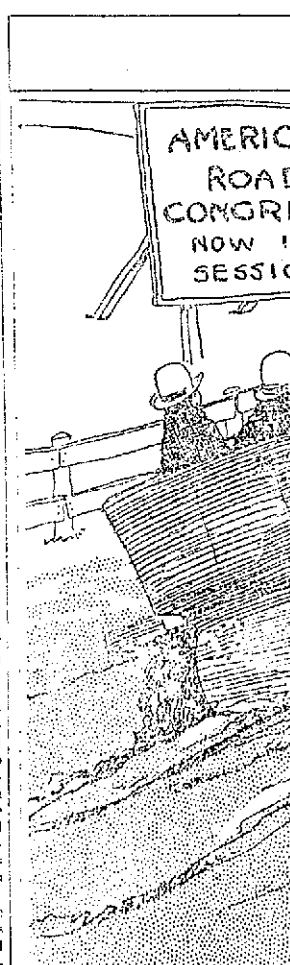

Joseph Wagner	...Mr. Charles Stevens
Paul Albers	...Mr. William Walsh
Robert Brown	...Mr. Jack Clayton
Donald Hunter	...Mr. Lester Cline
James Kiernan	...Mr. Donald Meeg
Mettlyn	...Mr. Daniel McCabe
Otto Warner	...Mr. Joseph Guthrie
Mrs. Wagner	...Miss Elizabeth Hunt
Helen Wagner	...Miss Lucille Sanford
Sally Smart	...Miss Louise Landron

"The Struggle" has similar features to two dramatic successes, "The Music Master" and "The Man Who Knew Too Much" and yet cannot be called a steal from either as the main point of the plot is entirely different. It admits much more comedy than either and while having its pathetic features is not as sad a play as "The Music Master" were closely resembling "The Man Who Knew Too Much" in this respect. The story deals with the old country custom of parents promising their children in marriage without consulting the child's inclinations, and the inevitable result thereof. Joseph Wagner, an elderly German tailor, promises the hand of his daughter to the son of an old friend to whom he is indebted, but the daughter is growing up a rebel against her father's choice and runs away and marries an actor for which her father turns her from his door. "Paul Albers," the young German to whom she was promised in marriage turns out from the light-hearted lay upon learning the ways of the country to a real crook, emphasizing the mistake the father would have made had he had his way. Meanwhile the father meets with business reverses and is reduced to poverty while his would-be son-in-law loses him of his last little roll.

The old man rolls on the bar and is approached by a man named "Red" who is in great trouble with a proposition to not discontinue which he springs whereupon Redden to get revenge, buys the mortgages on the old man's place and starts to sell him out. As the action is about to take place his daughter and her husband arrive on the scene and the daughter of her father's plight the daughter pays off the indebtedness and makes him comfortable for the remainder of his days and he finally relents and forgives her for not obeying his wishes relative to her marriage.

The principal dramatic work in the play falls on "Paul Albers" as "Joseph Wagner" the old tailor and Miss Hunt, his wife, and both interpret the parts in faultless manner, handling the German dialect as if to the manner born. Mr. Stevens' character is as splendidly as could be wished for. Mr. Meeg takes the part of a young newspaper man who has graduated into a politician, etc., who is always on hand who needed. His cabinet shift in for-dress costume with Miss Spahnay is a strongly graphic situation motif. Interestingly, in comedy, Mr. William Walsh, as "Paul Almers," who evolves from the young German lover with his little dialogue into the fr and unreflexive New Yorker handled a difficult "heavy" part more artistically. Jack Chagnon as Robert Drew, the actor didn't have much to do but made the most of the part and likewise Mr. Clemens as "Burdett." "The Struggle" will be presented for the remainder of the week.

HURLEY STOPS GAINES

Referee Stopped the Bout in the Third Round

WITTSFIELD, Nov. 21.—Battling Hurley of Glens Falls put Jerry Gaines of Boston away in the third session of a bout here last night which was scheduled for 10 rounds. Six hundred members of the Pastime Athletic club saw the mill. Hurley had things all his own way from the first, reaching Gaines' jaw early in the first round.

In the second, Gaines sent home a few taps, but Hurley gave more than he took and Gaines went to his corner a weakened man. In the third round, Hurley landed a combination of punches, and although he was not knocked out, Referee Tibbitts of Albany called the contest off.

Gaines' backers protested at the decision and wanted the fight to proceed, but Tibbitts was firm. Hurley was about 20 pounds heavier than Gaines. The latter jabbed Hurley in the face numerous times, but the blows were not effective, while Hurley seldom sent in a punch that did not have a lot of steam behind it.

Before the bout started, Gaines' trainers protested on the way Hurley's hands were bandaged and the battle was delayed 10 minutes until new tape was applied.

In the semifinal, Billy Roberts of Brockton defeated Young Allen in the first round with a straight from the shoulder to the jaw. The referee stopped this fight. Young Allen of Adams won over Kid Josie of Worcester in the preliminary. Josie was handed rights and lefts in rapid succession and the rain was too much for the Worcester boy, who was counted out.

ATTELL AT HIS BEST

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Abe Attell lived up to his reputation as the cleverest little man in the ring last night when he defeated Willie Jones of Brooklyn at the Olympic A. C. Abe was faster, cleverer and showed a harder punch than he has in two years. He was master at all stages and times and had the better of every round but the seventh.

10 ROUNDS TO A DRAW

WESTFIELD, Nov. 21.—Jack Scaler of Spokane, Wash., and Philadelphia Jack O'Neil fought 10 fast rounds to a draw at the meeting of the Whip City A. C. last night. There was not a dull moment in the fight. The final round was the fastest. Both men fought hard to the end.

In the opener, both men swapped punches. Scaler working the kidneys continually, while O'Neil put in an occasional body blow. Scaler had a slight advantage in the second round, using both hands effectively to the body. O'Neil rushed his man at times, and appeared a bit wild. Scaler built up his advantage a little more in the third. The fourth round brought an even exchange with the men fighting at close quarters. O'Neil, however, covered up matters. In the last two rounds especially, having the advantage.

In the preliminaries, Johnny Gallant of Boston defeated Chick West of Holyoke in six rounds. Andy Williams of New York and Joe Freeman of Holyoke fought four rounds in the other preliminary.

BURKE WINS CLEANLY

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 21.—Duck Burke of Fall River won a decision over Dan Maringo of this city in the liveliest of the six-round bouts put on by the Seventh Bristol A. A. last night.

Burke did the cleaner work, both on offense and defense, and was on the aggressive throughout the bout. Though Maringo slugged busily during the in-fighting, Burke had a long lead at the finish.

Fighting Dick Miller of Pawtucket made short work of Arthur Morrow of this city. Morrow was a rough-and-tumble valiant, while Miller boxed cleverly, and before the first round was over shot a right to Morrow's jaw that sent him down for a clean knockout.

Young Clark of Fall River made a lurching bag of Pat Gallagher of this city for four rounds, the referee stopping the bout before the end of the round. Gallagher was floored twice in the second round.

Young Johnson of this city beat Young Berry of Fall River in the third round, and Young O'Brien of this city was awarded the decision over Young Boyle of Fall River in the third round.

CALLED A DRAW

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 21.—Joe Mandot of New Orleans and Matty Baldwin of Boston boxed eight fast rounds to a draw before the Southern A. C. last night.

O'LEARY BEATS WAGNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Young

O'Leary, an East Side bantam, again defeated Joe Wagner in their second meeting of 10 rounds, last night, at the Pardon A. C. O'Leary was too clever for Wagner, and nearly every time Wagner tried to shift, O'Leary stopped him with a left hand jab and hooked in his right in the jaw.

O'DONNELL-McGOVERN DRAW

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 21.—Bert O'Donnell of Wilkesbarre and Phil McGovern of Brooklyn fought six fast rounds before the National Sporting club here last night. Honors were about even, although if there was any shade to hand out, O'Donnell deserved it.

BOUNTS AT MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 21.—The McGregorville A. C. conducted a varied program of boxing and wrestling in its headquarters in Grosley hall with a large attendance. John Paradis of this city and John Muckle of New Wood, Mass., met in catch-as-catch-can wrestling bout. The men wrestled for 1 hour and 30 minutes without a fall. The bout was then declared a draw. Young Garon and Kid Gallagher of this city boxed six rounds to a draw and Kid St. Onge defeated Young Nicholas Keueas in two straight falls at wrestling.

CLEVER BANTAMS

Are Booked by Lowell Athletic Club

The management of the Lowell Social and Athletic club has secured another attraction that was booked for Boston for its meeting next Friday night in securing Al Delmont and Chick Roskin of New Bedford for the main bout at 115 pounds. All who have seen Al Delmont perform will go miles to see him again for he is considered one of the cleverest bantams that ever donned a glove. Roskin is a younger boxer who is coming along finely and whom the New Bedford fans claim will have a local flavor for the contestants will be George Stone, a North common favorite, and Billy Mulvey who will box eight rounds at 135 pounds. The preliminary will be of six rounds between Young Hamilton of Lowell and Young Johnson of Lawrence.

An exceptionally strong bill will be booked for Thanksgiving night. The many friends of Young Boyle who made such a fine showing at a recent meeting of the Social and Athletic club would like to see him go again. Boyle looks like a corner for he has improved greatly and is decidedly cool in the ring. He is always in good condition and is a gentlemanly fellow and good clean sport at all times.

Freddie Maguire is in active training daily and is ready for a match at a moment's notice. He is all done giving away weight, however, and henceforth will meet 110 pound men. Tom Flanagan whom he met at the Armory club last season is boxing in Lawrence Thursday night at 115 pounds. He had eight pounds advantage over Maguire when they met last and that is considerable in the bantam weight class.

TWO FAMOUS BACKS WHO ARE EXPECTED TO SHINE IN ARMY-NAVY GAME AT PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The Army and Navy men are ready for their annual battle, to be played here on Franklin field Nov. 25. The game promises to be one of the most exciting of the year. The teams are evenly matched, and both have clean slates. The Annapolis men are the favorites, owing to the fine balance of their team and their readiness for any sort of football. Captain Dalton's splendid punting ability is counted upon greatly, as well as the fast charging of the line men and the defensive strength of the whole team. On the other hand, the West Pointers are one of the most evenly balanced teams of the year. Their line is one of the strongest of the season. The Army men expect much of fullback Dean, who scored a touchdown against Yale and later kicked the goal. He is ranked by experts as one of the best fullbacks in the game this season. The two teams have met fifteen times during the past sixteen years, there being no battle in 1908. The Army men have won eight contests, while the Navy men have captured seven. The probable lineup of the two elevens will be: Army—left end, Drake; left tackle, Devore; left guard, Arnold; center, Wulmsley; right guard, Huston; right tackle, Littlejohn; right end, Gillespie; quarterback, Hyatt; right halfback, MacDonald; left halfback, Hodgson; fullback, Dean. Navy—left end, Hamilton; left tackle, Brown; left guard, Wakeman; center, Worms; right guard, Howe; right tackle, Redman; right end, Gilchrist; quarterback, Sewell; left halfback, Dalton; right halfback, McReavey; fullback, Rodes.

Private Detective Held on a Charge of Perjury

Robert Burns, head of the Burns Detective Agency, 1 Beacon street, Boston, was brought before Judge McLaughlin in the superior criminal court at East Cambridge, late yesterday afternoon and arraigned on a secret indictment charging him with perjury in two counts, the charges growing out of his testimony before the grand jury on June 25, 1911, in the investigation of Middlesex county affairs.

Burns waived the reading of the indictment and pleaded not guilty. He was released in $500 bonds for a hearing.

FOR DIAMOND MAKING

A New Method Has Been Discovered in Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—A new method of making diamonds has just been discovered by Dr. Werner von Bolton, a chemical expert connected with the Siemens-Halske laboratory here.

The process is based on the decomposition of lighting gas by a mercury amalgam, whereby the carbon contained in the gas is crystallized into diamonds. As these diamonds are extremely minute, small bits of diamond dust are introduced into the apparatus, where they serve as mother crystals upon which larger diamonds are gradually built. The process is still in the experimental stage and the diamonds are small but it is hoped that Dr. von Bolton's discovery may result in the solution of the problem of manufacturing diamonds by artificial means.

HARVARD CRIMSON

Wants Eleven Not to be too Confident

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 21.—That Harvard has no more than a fighting chance against Yale on Saturday and that the undergraduates should not acquire over-confidence through the Crimson's victory over Dartmouth and Yale's defeat by Princeton is the warning sent out today by the Harvard Crimson, the university daily paper.

It is pointed out that Harvard went to Princeton a favorite over the Tigers with even more confidence than Yale met Princeton, but both met defeat. The Harvard athletic authorities are making an effort to stop aeroplaning over the stadium crowd during the Yale game. A big biplane with two passengers whirled over the crowd at Princeton, distracting the attention of both spectators and players, while the Princeton management had shivers at the thought of a sudden plunge into the stands with such disastrous effects as in the case of the fatal accident to the minister of war in France last spring.

There is no law in Massachusetts regulating aeroplaning as is the case in Connecticut so that the Harvard management will try moral persuasion with the daring aviators.

EXCITEMENT AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 21.—The excitement over the student disturbance of Saturday night is quieting down and the outlook now is that with an inquiry conducted by the Yale faculties to determine the extent to which the students were responsible the whole affair will be closed without any lawsuits.

AUTO OVERTURNED

Penacook, N. H., Man Badly Injured
On the Boulevard Today

Mr. H. W. Alexander, who conducts an automobile garage at Penacook, N. H., had a narrow escape from being killed shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon when something happened to the machine which he was operating and caused the car to overturn near the windmill on the Pawtucket boulevard. The driver was pinned under the car and might have been crushed to death but for the assistance rendered by Russell E. Rolfe, who was thrown from the car, and escaped injury.

Mr. Alexander was taken to the Lowell General hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a number of bruises and lacerations and might be internally injured. At the time of writing the doctors at the hospital were unable to state the extent of his injuries.

Messrs. Alexander and Rolfe went to Boston this morning where the former purchased a model 33 Hudson touring car, and the pair were on their way to Penacook when the accident happened. The machine was being operated at between 20 and 30 miles an hour when it either skidded or the steering knuckle broke, for suddenly the machine refused to respond to the steering wheel and before the car could be brought to a stop it ran into the sand on the side of the road and turned turtle, Mr. Alexander being pinned under the car, while Mr. Rolfe was thrown several yards but fortunately landed on the grass.

Employees at the pumping station rushed to the assistance of the man, and word was sent to the ambulance station. A few minutes after the accident an auto came down the boulevard and volunteered to take the injured man to the hospital. He was placed in the tonneau of the car and was being rapidly taken to the Lowell General hospital when Mr. Alexander was taken the remainder of the way in the ambulance.

A DANGEROUS FIRE

Broke Out in a Building
in Aiken Street

A dangerous fire broke out in a room on the floor of the five-story brick building at the corner of Moody and Aiken streets shortly after three o'clock this afternoon and but for the timely discovery of the blaze and the effective work of the firemen upon arriving on the scene the damage would have undoubtedly been large.

The room is occupied by Mrs. Pierre Gosselin, who left the building this afternoon she neglected to extinguish the flame in a gas stove in a bedroom. During her absence the flames communicated with the bed clothing. A woman who occupies the adjoining room discovered the smoke and she notified the janitor and the latter pulled in an alarm from box 52.

When the firemen arrived on the scene there was a lively blaze in progress, but it was extinguished after ten or fifteen minutes' work and the damage will be confined almost wholly to the room and its contents.

The building is owned by Dr. L. V. and Gideon Rochette and Alphonse Bibeault.

CONEY ISLAND

Is Claimed by Heirs of Colonists

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Senator A. A. Wray, and his associate counsel, William Campbell, with offices at No. 55 Liberty street, filed papers yesterday with Judge Fawcett, of Kings County, to show cause why all of Gravesend and Coney Island, except about thirty-eight acres, should not be turned back into the possession of his clients, James E. Morry, Nina Hayes and Elizabeth B. Pine, all of Gravesend. This includes all the amusement parks at Coney Island.

It is the contention of Wray and his clients that the amusement companies do not hold deeds to the property, but "quit claims," giving them possession of land claimed by "squatters." Mr. Wray asserts that all the deed from the time the property first came into possession of the Barry-Johnson family, of which Morry and Nina Hayes and Mrs. Pine are descendants, are in the family's possession.

"The city, which has been negotiating for Dreamland Park, will probably have to hold things up until some settlement is reached," says Wray. He expects to make a "siege" of it, and believes he will win the fight.

Bought from Indian Chief
In September, 1845, according to Mr. Wray, the property was deeded to the Barry-Johnson family, who received in payment, one blanket, one gun and a kettle. William Kieft, the Dutch governor, granted the land to thirty-nine colonists, who divided the property into thirty-nine "lots" or lots, each taking an equal part. "Shortly after this," said Senator Wray, "Barry-Johnson, who was taken into the colony and given a part of the land."

Johnson soon had all of the "grain" in his possession. This was in 1780. He deeded it to his nephew, Barrant Johnson, 4th, who died intestate, leaving as his only heirs—two sons, William, John and Ram Johnson, and a daughter, Settle.

"We will attempt to show that when William died his share of the property was divided among John, Ram and his sister, Settle, each getting one-third," said Mr. Wray.

Mr. Wray said that after the death of John, his son and only surviving heir, came into possession of his two-thirds. Johnson, 5th, left the property to his mother, Elizabeth, who, in turn, left it to Elizabeth Morry, who married a Mr. Hobbs, and in 1908 died, leaving the property to the present James E. Morry, Nina Hayes and Elizabeth B. Pine.

Property Now Worth $100,000,000
"Settle Johnson married Henry Lot, of Cananda, and still holds her share of the property. James Morry is at present in Kentucky, but he is coming back soon to aid in the fight for the property, that is now worth about $100,000,000."

Copies of the deeds have been filed with the papers.

An effort is also being made to stop the foreclosure proceedings against the Neptune Avenue lot owned by Gravesend, it being claimed that the property is part of the grant owned by the Lotis, etc.

PATRICK O'BRIEN

Lowell Man Among Victims of Fire in Nashua Today

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 21.—Three men are dead and a fourth is in the Nashua hospital in a serious condition as the result of inhaling smoke in a fire that burst out in the interior of the Denton hotel, a lodging-house on Denton street, near the Union station here today.

The dead:
HARRY L. COREY, 33, unmarried, a paperworker.
PATRICK O'BRIEN, 60, paperworker; leaves a family in Lowell.

JAMES MCGUIRE, 35, a Boston & Maine brakeman, well known in local fraternal circles.

Patrick Murray, another lodger in the hotel, was overcome by smoke but at the hospital it was expected that he would recover.

The fire was discovered some time after four a. m., but as it had attained great headway by that time it is believed that it had been burning for hours. It evidently originated, according to the firemen, in the hotel office, although Dennis O'Neill, proprietor of the hotel, said today that he is positive that the fire was set from the outside.

O'Neill awoke at four o'clock. He smelled smoke and started to investigate. As he opened the door of his room he found that the halls were filled with smoke. He rushed through the hall knocking on the doors of the rooms, where the eleven lodgers were sleeping and all but four of the guests were aroused in time to escape.

The fire had burned off the stairways and cut off escape by this way. O'Neill, after arousing the lodgers, stepped out on the roof of the piazza but slipped and fell to the ground, severely injuring his back.

After the firemen had arrived on the scene, Corey, O'Brien, McGuire and Murray were brought down ladders and rushed to the hospital. Corey died in the ambulance. O'Brien breathed his last a few minutes after reaching the hospital, while McGuire lingered for an hour. Death in every case was due to suffocation. As the chemical engine of the fire department was responding to the alarm the vehicle skidded, crashed into a lamp post and Driver Hallsley was thrown from his seat, sustaining a fractured ankle and a badly sprained shoulder.

An estimate after the fire placed the property loss at about $4000. The Denton hotel, although built for a regular hotel, had in recent years been used as a lodging house for men, its patrons being principally railroad men, teamsters and mill hands.

Local Police Notified
Inspector Fields of the Nashua police telephoned the Lowell authorities this morning that the Patrick O'Brien who was suffocated by smoke was a resident of this city and has a family here. Although there are several Patrick O'Briens who have been residents of Lowell, up to the time of going to press this afternoon the police were unable to find any relatives of the dead man.

EX-ENGINEER MARTZ

Tells How Rockefeller
Got Control of Road

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—How John D. Rockefeller secured control of the valuable Duluth, Mesaba & Northern railroad through a loan of $1,000,000, how the value of the railroad property is said to have been padded to make it appear worth more than $7,000,000, and how the road is now earning more than $200 a share in dividends, was told by a committee today by Charles H. Martz, formerly chief engineer of the road.

Mr. Martz, with some bitterness, told how he once owned 49 shares of stock in the road but had to sell it to the Rockefeller interests for $85 a share, in order as he claimed to make his $100,000 in 1902 to extend their road into Duluth. He testified that the total cost of the road and docks at Duluth amounted to $1,700,000. Soon afterward, Mr. Martz declared, the control of the road was taken over by Rockefeller.

He remained chief engineer until 1904, when the Illinois railroad commission brought suit against the road for a reduction of ore rates. He said he was directed by counsel for the road in the presence of Mr. Rockefeller's counsel to make a report that the total cost of the road had been $7,000,000.

"I worked over this problem several times," said Mr. Martz, "but could not show such a cost."

Mr. Martz told the committee that he had owned 49 shares of stock in the railroad. Officers of the company had received 100 shares which they said was for the purpose of raising money in New York. This stock, Mr. Martz declared, he never saw again.

"After that," said Mr. Martz, "Mr. Rockefeller sent the general manager to inform me that it was against the policy of the company for employees to own stock in the road and asked me to sell for $20 a share. I did sell it and that stock is now paying a dividend of $200 a share."

"Did you ever try to find out what became of the other 19 shares of your stock?" asked Rep. Gardner.

"No," said Martz. "I was given to understand that if I didn't investigate my job would be secure."

Asked about the report on the road as finally made to the Minnesota railroad commission, Mr. Martz said the total valuation was placed at $7,322,000. In his report, he said, he had "padded" the cost considerably and had placed it at $4,322,000. The road, outside of equipment, could have been reproduced for $3,500,000.

PACKERS' COUNSEL

ASKED THAT KOHLSTADT'S ORDER
BE ENTERED TODAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Attorney Levy Mayer of counsel for the packers visited the office of District Attorney Wilkerson at noon and asked that Judge Kohlstaedt's order dissolving the packers' writ of habeas corpus be entered today instead of tomorrow as ordered.

GREEK LECTURER

SPOKE UPON THE FUTURE OF
THE GREEKS IN AMERICA

Mr. Constantine Sakellarios, a lawyer of New York, lectured Sunday evening to the local Greek community on the future of the Greeks in the United States and the future of Greek journalism in this country. The lecturer was accompanied by Mr. N. Megitis, editor of "The Guardian," a Greek paper published in New York that has a good circulation in this city.

TO CROSS OCEAN

Lieut. Gericke to Make
Attempt in Balloon

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—In a spherical balloon, without a motor, Lieut. Hans Gericke, the German balloonist, who won the international balloon trophy recently, plans to fly across the Atlantic ocean to Europe, starting from the vicinity of New York, in January. He announced his purpose in the course of a lecture at the Hotel Astor last night.

Lieut. Gericke is the champion balloonist of Germany and is at present the titular champion of the world. He is a lieutenant of the artillery branch of the German army. He won the championship last summer in his flight of 500 miles, when he landed in Wisconsin. In this contest he defeated the picked flyers of England, France and America. In last year's contest, which was won by the American pilot, Alan R. Hawley, Lieut. Gericke landed in the wilds of British Columbia, after making a flight of more than 1000 miles and coming within 30 miles of equalling Hawley's record.

Clever Aerial Jockey
The German army officer is one of the most skillful balloonists in the world. He has frequently demonstrated his ability to guide his rudderless craft to any given spot in spite of contrary winds. By jockeying in the various strata of air currents, he manages to pilot his balloon wherever he desires.

"In flying from America to Europe," said Lieut. Gericke, "it is my purpose to start out in the early part of January. I plan to get away from the vicinity of New York. I will start when the moon shines full. I purpose to wait until the weather maps show me that the prevailing air movement is steadily eastward. Then I will swing up and move rapidly across the Atlantic with the current. I estimate that I will be able to make the crossing in at least four days."

Thinks Task Not Difficult
"The balloon will be of special construction and will carry enough food to last three men at least three weeks. I hope to have two assistants with me on the expedition. If I can find an American who is willing to go I will include him in the crew."

"I have not the slightest doubt that I will be able to make the trip. I have demonstrated frequently that I can reach any place that I have set out for. Crossing the Atlantic in a balloon will be as easy as flying from one point in America to another."

Lieut. Gericke leaves on Saturday to spend the holidays at his home near Berlin. He will start back to America immediately after Christmas.

BURNED TO DEATH

Aged Woman's Home
Destroyed By Fire

DENNIS, Nov. 21.—An aged woman, Mrs. Mary Hall, is believed to have been burned to death in a fire which destroyed her home in this town today. Mrs. Hall was 80 years old, the widow of the late Captain Shubael Hall and lived alone in the family homestead. This afternoon the house was seen to be on fire and was burned to the ground before fire apparatus could reach the scene. No traces of Mrs. Hall were found. Mrs. Hall had no children, and her only living relative is thought to be Charles R. Howard of Yarmouth, traveling salesman for a Fall River firm of wholesale grocers.

ANOTHER BIG DAY

Hundreds of Women Registered
This Afternoon

This is the registration season for women and it has millinery openings and bargain sales beaten to a frazzle. The way of the transgressor, the good book says, is hard, but the way of the suffragette leads to city hall.

There is no telling how many women will have registered before the registration sessions close but it is safe to say that at least 50 per cent. of the total vote for school committee will be on special ballot for women only.

Tomorrow will be the last day for registration for the preliminary election unless the registrars should decide to hold extra sessions and that they will do it the demand is sufficiently great. The hours for registration are from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 1 to 3 o'clock this afternoon more than 300 women had registered and that carries the total beyond the 5000 mark. Just what the result will be on election day remains to be seen.

It is up to the city clerk to find out about how many extra ballots will be needed in the different precincts and to get the female vote by precincts is a pretty big job. The ballots must be printed and in the hands of the city clerk by Monday afternoon and in view of that fact the registrars may decide not to extend registration sessions beyond tomorrow.

City Clerk Flynn said today that instructions would be made very plain on the ballot and if the voter reads the instructions carefully he will not be at sea, so to speak.

STOLE FLAT IRON

Burglars Enter Marie
Horton's Room

A daring break was attempted at the Broadway theatre says the Lawrence Sun when the dressing room of Marie Horton, leading lady of the Broadway Stock company, was entered some time either Sunday afternoon or night or Monday morning. The only article missed by Miss Horton was an electric flat iron and this was later found by a stage hand on the ground outside the building near a window.

The break was early reported to the police and a rigid investigation was instituted but without results. The most plausible theory held is that the thief, or thieves, entered the building by means of a rear window and were frightened away, their flight causing the dropping of the iron and accounting for the fact that they overlooked a large amount of jewelry and elaborate gowns owned by Miss Horton.

When seen at the theatre during the evening performance Monday Miss Horton stated to a Sun-American reporter that she had visited her dressing room the last thing Sunday noon before leaving the city for the day and that she had taken particular care to lock the door carefully as she had left a larger amount of her jewelry there over Sunday than was her custom to leave at the theatre.

BOSTON REPORTER

Was Indicted for Criminal Libel

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 21.—George Decker, a Boston newspaperman, who recently advised of the recent criminal trials of Middlesex county cases, was arrested today on an indictment warrant charging him with criminal libel and perjury in connection with the grand jury investigation of Middlesex county institutions. He pleaded not guilty and furnished $500 bail for his appearance. The arrest followed that of Detective Robert Burns yesterday on a similar charge.

PLEADED GUILTY

MAN WAS TIRED OF BEING A FUGITIVE

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Tired of being a fugitive, Henry Redmond, under indictment for the alleged larceny of $5000 from the Regulator theatre, returned to this city last night and today was arraigned before Judge Sanderson in the Suffolk county superior criminal court. He pleaded guilty and was held in $1000 bail for sentence tomorrow. Redmond has been in Florida. He was assistant manager of the theatre.

WANTS PETITION DISMISSED

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 21.—Counsel for George Glover filed today with the superior court a motion for the dismissal of the petition of Henry M. Baker, executor of the estate of Mary Baker Eddy, for leave to intervene in the proceeding brought by Glover on Nov. 7 to reserve the right of appeal from the probate of the will of Mrs. Eddy, his mother. The motion says that if Mr. Baker is allowed to appear he will become "the partisan agent of the five directors of the Christian Science church to further their nefarious conspiracy to obtain by undue influence and fraud which they practiced on Mrs. Eddy and the petitioner, the property which belonged to Mrs. Eddy."

PROMINENT MAN DEAD

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 21.—Hon. E. T. Tophill, one of the best known and wealthiest men of the city, died today following a prolonged sickness incident to old age, aged 84 years. He was a native of Hanover, a graduate of Dartmouth and had practiced law in this city for half a century. He had served the republican party as chairman of the local and state committee and was internal revenue collector under President Grant. He leaves a sister.

Mr., Mrs. and Miss Voter:

Under the present system, young ladies who have striven hard to successfully pass the examinations of the Primary, Grammar, High and Normal schools, are obliged before being assigned to Lowell schools, to seek positions in schools outside of our city, for a period of one year or more, being forced to break away from their families and home influence and being obliged to subject themselves to untold privations and hardships. Is this just? Is this right? Is this fair? If you wish to change this pernicious system

REV. DR. STACKHOUSE

Spoke on the Men's Forward Movement

Another meeting in connection with the "Men's Forward Movement" was held at the Faneuil Street Free Baptist church last night. It was a banquet and rally by men of the Baptist churches of Lowell, Haverhill, North Chelmsford and Tewksbury.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, D. D., who was introduced by George H. Taylor, Dr. Stackhouse said in part:

Every man in the church ought to be engaged in some phase of mission work and actively in the cause as a whole. Are the men uninterested? Yes, there are a great many men who are, and I am going to tell you how to reach them. I had a church in Vancouver and I wanted that church to let me have three months' vacation in summer in order that I might do missionary work up among the mountaineers. I got my vacation principally because I took it. The work must succeed, too. There are two or three churches up there now, and some very large and live congregations. When I first started in my work up there, it seemed that I was trying to coast down hill, but that the devil was sitting on the sled behind me and was holding me back by his spiked tail and sharp hoofs in the ground. But when I got back to my church it seemed as if I were swinging the devil round by his tail and sliding down from the hills with a terrible impetus. The first sermon which I preached after my return seemed to have been delivered when I was adre with enthusiasm. And I did rouse up that congregation. At the close of the service a very shrewd business man came up to me and said: "You certainly had a fine sermon, but there is nothing to this missionary talk of yours." Well, I just took that brother in hand right there on the spot and asked him how he dared to breathe God's air and bask in his sunshine, and plead for his love and guidance and at the same time refused to share a single gift of his Creator's, should dare to withhold that greatest blessing which he gave to mankind through his agony in the garden of Gethsemane and his agony on the cross from others. How could he hope to face his Lord without doing this?

Sometimes I have been asked what to do in case it is the pastor himself who blocks the way and turns his back on it. I have simply replied that in that case the heat should be applied to the man's back until he turns around and gives up or gets out. It is the same with him as it was with the man in my church who refused to give till I told him that it was either give or get out. This may seem like a very drastic measure, but that man is one of the warmest friends I have on the Pacific coast. He decided to give.

"You men here who have come from the maritime provinces of Canada, should take it as a place to be born in and a fine place to emigrate from after you are born. Well, there was an old farmer up there who had borrowed the money to get married on, had bought a farm, had prospered and at last he had quite a surplus laid up in the bank. Well, I went to that man to get a subscription for this work from him. We went out into the fields to talk it over, and finally he asked me what I thought he ought to give. I told him I thought that $1000 would be about right for him. He asked me if I would only tell that to his wife, and that then he might consider it if she would even listen to me. Well, at noon I asked her, and we finished the meal in silence. Just as I was driving out through his gate he slipped through after me and told me that he had decided to pledge the amount which I had asked him for. And later on he doubled that amount for his yearly contribution, this to continue for six years. Now, if there are any farmers here tonight, I should like to meet them after this talk. In your churches, be sure to pick out the active and busy men for the important places on the committees, for the lay and indeed and half-hearted are better left alone in their own employment. It is the busy man who will accomplish things for you. And make sure that every one gets into this 'ten cents a week for foreign missions.'

Rev. F. A. MacDonald of the Fifth Street Baptist church spoke briefly, as follows:

"The burden of the present military and naval equipment of Christendom is stunting national life and handicapping the progress of humanitarian movements, and must be lightened. The immediate step is to bind nations together more closely by arbitration treaties, the scope of which should be sweeping in the list of international questions that they will make subject to the jurisdiction of an arbitral court."

"The treaties of such character recently formulated between the United States and Great Britain, and between the United States and France are the creation of some of the ablest, most far-seeing statesmen of these three countries. Great Britain and France are ready to ratify these treaties. For the United States senate to reject them would be to block the progress of the world, whereas America, by her traditions and her situation is best fitted to become the leading peacemaker of the world."

"In view of the foregoing, Mr. Chairman, I beg to move that we, citizens of Lowell and vicinity, and members of the Baptist churches therein, assemble this afternoon, hereby voice our conviction that the afore-mentioned treaties should be ratified, and that we earnestly and respectfully request the honorable senators from the state of Massachusetts to do their utmost to secure the said ratification."

This resolution was adopted and ordered to be drawn up and forwarded to the senators from this state.

MADONNA STOLEN

VALUABLE PAINTING WAS TAKEN FROM MONASTERY

FLORENCE, Italy, Nov. 21.—The painting "Madonna Delle Stelle," by Fra Angelico, has been stolen from the monastery of San Marco, which has been transformed into a museum.

The theft occurred Sunday night during a severe storm. When the storm was at an end a passerby saw a rope hanging from a window of the monastery. He gave the alarm and a search disclosed the loss of the picture. The locks of the door of the cell and the glass case in which the painting had been kept were broken.

Strangely enough the thief of thieves did not touch any of the other pictures by Fra Angelico in the same cell, representing "The Betrayal" and "The Annunciation."

A further examination disclosed a hole in the roof of the monastery, through which it was at first supposed, the thief entered, but it was found that the hole was made from the inside and that it was not large enough to permit of the passage of even a small man. It was therefore argued that it was made to mislead the investigators.

Five persons have been placed under arrest among them the custodians of the museum. It is believed, however, that the theft had its inception in the international gang of thieves who are thought to have engineered the theft of other valuable paintings, including that of Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" from the Louvre, Paris, last August.

Restful Night at Last!

A sufferer from insomnia, lying awake, starting at every distant noise, and whose tormented mind magnifies every trivial circumstance, must have relief, and right here a great danger is confronted. Most remedies stupefy, depress and deaden, but leave the starved, overstrained, nerves weaker than ever when the influence of the drug abates.

They are composed of narcotics, bromides, opiates and their derivatives, and it is no wonder that many an innocent user suddenly finds himself in the powerful grip of a vicious habit, difficult or impossible to break.

WIFE ENTERS SUIT

Says Hotel Man Alienated Husband's Affections

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Alfred L. Senton of Wellesley has brought a suit for $50,000 against John B. Quinn, manager of the Hotel Essex, which, legal lawyers say is unique in Massachusetts, and rare in any state in the country.

Mrs. Senton alleges that Mr. Quinn influenced her husband to leave her. The suit is practically a suit for the alienation of her husband's affections, and would be nothing out of the ordinary were the defendant a woman, but the fact that a man is named makes the case noteworthy.

Mr. Senton is wine steward at the Hotel Essex and came to that hotel from New York with Mr. Quinn. His wife claims that the influence exerted by Quinn over her husband began while the two were together in New York, and became more pronounced after they had come to this city.

She claims that Quinn has led her husband into wild ways and caused him to give up his wife. She claims that she has been left without food even, though her husband receives a liberal salary at the hotel.

Mrs. Senton does not want a divorce from her husband, as she is very sure that he will return to her and conduct himself as he did before he met Quinn.

TRIED SUICIDE

WOMAN WAS MARRIED ONLY ONE MONTH AGO

TILTON, N. H., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Myrtle Brown, aged 35, who attempted to commit suicide late Sunday night at her home in Northfield by shooting, taking poison and cutting her throat, bids fair to recover, according to Dr. H. S. Beckford of Belmont, who was called to attend her.

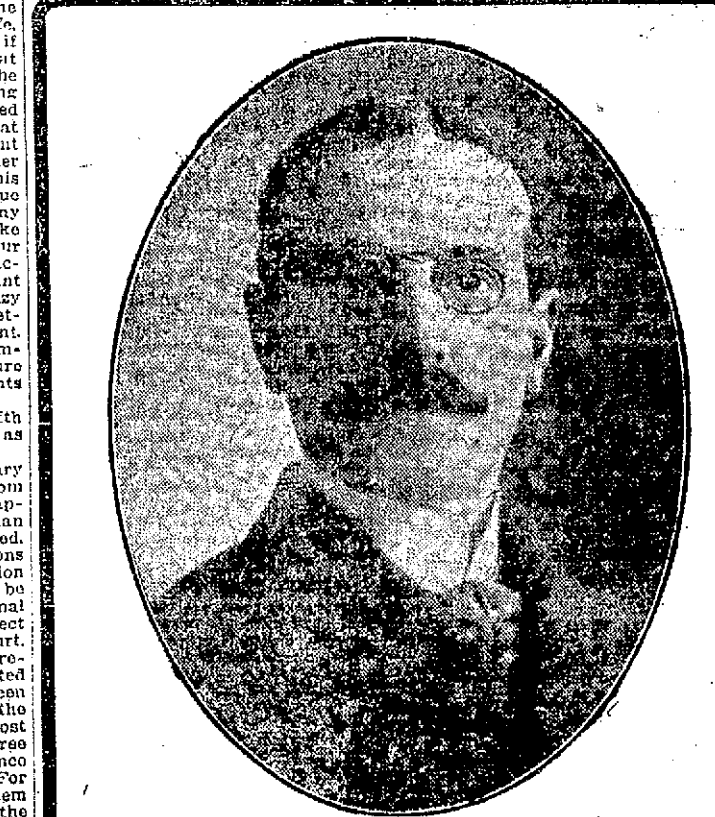

Mrs. Brown was married a few weeks ago. It is said that family troubles caused her to become despondent. She has been working in a hosiery mill at Belmont, her husband, D. A. Brown, taking her to and from work each day.

Sunday night he was asleep. She said that she was going to take a bath before retiring. He was awakened by the noise of a gun and, jumping from bed found his wife with cuts on her throat and wrists and her head and face bruised.

Yesterday Dr. Beckford found his patient in a comfortable condition. The most serious danger, he says, is from the poison.

Brown and his wife lived on the Odd Fellows place about two miles from Belmont. They were married less than a month ago by Justice of the Peace John M. Meserve of Tilton. The groom gave his residence as Lynn, Mass. Mrs. Brown had been married before, her name before her marriage being Myrtle Clark Plummer.

ARMORED CRUISE

TO BE SENT TO SANTO DOMINGO CITY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 31.—To safeguard American interests and prevent a state of anarchy in Santo Domingo as a result of the assassination of President Caceres, the cabinet has decided that the armored cruiser Washington and North Carolina of the Atlantic fleet should be despatched with all speed to Santo Domingo. The vessels are now engaged with the rest of the fleet in working out a solution of the Chesapeake problem. They have been reached by wireless telegraph up to Hampton road, and will come into Hampton road tomorrow. Mr. Russell, the American minister, and convey him to the Dominican capital.

"I was under a doctor's care more than the time for six months but failed to cure me. I read about Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in a book and consulted with them. I used several boxes of the pills, as helped me from the first, and was completely cured."

For a more complete explanation of the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for stomach troubles, send today for a copy of our booklet, "What to Eat for Stomach Trouble."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be used in anemia, rheumatism, nervousness and scintia because of power to make rich, new blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, paid, on receipt of price, 50 cent box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, rubber and those to our own native territory.

Where do they go? Everywhere, where man wears his shoes—Japan, Korea, Siam, the East Indies, Egypt, Portuguese Liberia, the Belgian Congo, Brazil, the West Indies, Oceania, Roumania, Ecuador, Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Turkey in Asia, China, the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies, South Africa, Paraguay, the Argentine, Uruguay, Chile, the United States, the Hawaiian Islands, the Settlements, Spanish Africa, Buenos Aires, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Surinam, Guyana, French Guiana, the Azores and Madeira Islands, and the boots of the larger importers—nothing and shoes—Cuba, Mexico, Canada.

All these and many other interests about the exportation of shoes and many other articles of American manufacture are to be found in that interesting publication, the annual statistical department of and for footwear than those of the United States, but the growth rate is far less rapid than that of country. The number of pairs exported from the United States in 1926 was $65,186, and in 1930 7,310,933; the number of shoes exported from the Kingdom in 1926 was 8,093, and in 1930 13,033,658; the percentage of gain in the case of the Kingdom being 61 per cent, and in the case of the United States, 10.9 per cent. The value of leather boots and shoes exported from the United States, however, is more identical with that of like exports of the United Kingdom, having been last calendar year $100,183.21 against $17,744.89 for the U. S., whereas the average price per pair of those exported from the United States has advanced 10.9 per cent, while that exported from the U. Kingdom.—Providence Tribune.

SCOTT TAILORING CO.

227 Central Street, Lowell

FOR COLD, HARD CASH

With the high hopes and fond aspirations of youth, the people of Lowell saw the SCOTT TAILORING CO. make their debut but a few short weeks ago. History makes fast. You saw their wholesome enthusiasm, their boundless ambition, their careless energy. Outwardly you saw all the characteristics that people have learned to admire and to associate with success. You didn't see behind the scenes—the internal structural weakness that renders enthusiasm, ambition and energy ineffectual—that blights hopes and aspirations, ere they pass the flimsy stage of dreams.

It is one thing to open a tailoring store stocked with high priced wools and it is another thing to keep it open.

It is one thing to give the people fancy wools at low prices and it is another thing to make money on the transaction.

It is one thing for Mitchell, the Tailor, to make a success and it is another thing for imitators to imitate that success.

Napoleon used to say he knew twenty ways to put an army into England, but not one way to get the army out again.

Minus the hopes, ambitions and aspirations of the Scott Tailoring Co., I today offer the people of Lowell this beautiful stock of wools at Mitchell's prices. Bought originally to market for $15, $18, $20 and $25 to order, at these figures even the stock showed a loss to the Scott people. By the cold, hard cash route, Mitchell, the Tailor, acquires those same wools and offers them at a price to net 5 to 7 per cent. profit on the investment.

N. B.—Bought by the Scott people but eight short weeks ago, these wools, of course, are only the latest weaves the woolen industry knew how to make, offered in toto—take your choice.

Worsted, Scotches, Cassimeres, Black and Blue Serges, Pencil Stripe Blues, all the latest creations in Browns and Greys. Overcoatings in all the latest shades. Made any way you desire. Scott Tailoring Company's prices—$15 to $25. Mitchell price, made to order, ten dollars.

HOUSE WAS BURNED

Child Dead, and Parents and Two Little Ones Injured

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 21.—Fire which destroyed the residence of Luke Madden on Linden street last night resulted in the death of a child of four years and serious injuries to Madden and his wife and two other children.

THE HOME DOCTOR

The Easy Way To Take a Raw Egg
Most people find a great deal of trouble in swallowing a raw egg. When prepared in the following simple manner it will be a pleasure.
Put one teaspoonful of any fruit syrup into a thin glass. Carefully drop a raw egg in on this, being particular not to break the yolk. Over the egg pour a tablespoonful of Duffy's pure malt whiskey. The taste of the egg will not be noticed and taking it this way makes it doubly nourishing and beneficial.

burned that she cannot recover. The dead and injured are:

The Dead
FARRELL MADDEN, aged 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Madden.

The Injured
Mrs. Luke Madden, burned about head, arms and legs and injured by jumping from piazza roof; condition critical.

Luke Madden, burned about head and hands, and side badly injured by jumping from piazza roof; condition critical.

Helen Madden, aged 12, right arm broken and minor injuries sustained by jumping from piazza roof.

Amie Madden, aged 16, face and hands burned and hair burned from head, and back injured by jumping.

The four injured are at the North Adams hospital, where they were taken in an automobile furnished by a Williams college student.

old daughter Helen, the entire family were asleep on the second floor of the house when the fire started. They were unable to reach the street door because of the flames and made their way to the roof, where they literally rolled off onto the frozen ground below.

Living Tardies
After the rest of the family had retired, Helen, who is a schoolgirl, started for her room to study her lessons. Her room was cold and so she secured an oil stove, which she lighted before starting upstairs.

The stove leaked and all the way up the stairs left a trail of oil. As she reached the top stair she stumbled and fell, dropping the stove, which exploded and threw burning oil in every direction.

The blaze followed the oil down over the stairs and in a moment it seemed as if the entire house was a mass of flames.

When the shouts of her daughter awakened Mrs. Madden, she jumped from her bed, and grabbing up her baby, Farrell, started for the window.

The heat of the fire was so intense and the smoke so thick that she was partially overcome and in some manner the baby slipped from her arms into the cauldron of fire. Later the body was found burned to a crisp.

The woman herself was barely able to reach the piazza roof, from which she rolled to the ground, followed a few moments later by her husband and two daughters, all of whom were flaming torches.

Shouting "Fire! Fire!"
After a time the mother aroused herself sufficiently to crawl on her hands and knees across the road toward the home of Samuel White, all the time feebly shouting "Fire! Fire!"

White heard the woman's cries and went to her assistance. After carrying her into the house he returned and found the father making desperate efforts to cross the street, he, too, being unable to walk. The two girls, he found lying on the lawn unconscious.

Although herself in a dying condition, Mrs. Madden repeatedly called for her baby, and to ease her William Connors, another neighbor, made an attempt to reach the room where the child had been dropped, but he was again driven back by the flames.

After the fire had died down somewhat, two firemen, Harry Boyd and John Chapman, made their way into the house through the upper window and recovered the burned body of the baby. Meanwhile the injured had been taken to the hospital at North Adams.

The Madden home was practically destroyed with all its furnishings. The building was a two-story frame structure and was valued at about $4000. Madden is a laborer in moderate circumstances.

SAVED CHILD FROM DEATH
"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, influenza, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by A. W. Dow & Co.

KIRBY ELECTED

HE WAS CHOSEN HEAD OF THE A. A. U.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Gustavus T. Kirby of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the International A. A. U., was elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States yesterday. He defeated George F. Pawling of Philadelphia, president of the Middle Atlantic Association, by a vote of 22 to 6. The election took place at the 24th annual meeting of the A. A. U., which convened here yesterday with delegates in attendance from all parts of the country. Mr. Kirby will succeed Everett C. Brown of Chicago.

Four vice presidents of the Union also were elected, as follows: First, A. J. Lill, St. Joseph, Mo.; second, Dr. B. M. Haskins, Baltimore, Md.; third, George James, Olympic A. C., San Francisco; fourth, John J. O'Connor, Missouri A. C., St. Louis.

James E. Sullivan was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

BOARD OF TRADE

There will be a general meeting of the Lowell board of trade, at their headquarters, Central block, Wednesday, Nov. 22, 1911, at 8 p. m.

The topic of the evening will be a discussion of the Workman's compensation act and the system of factory inspection. The speakers will be Mr. James A. Lowell, Esq., Boston, chairman Workman's compensation commission, and Mr. J. H. Whitney, chief of the Massachusetts district police.

Former Teacher Arrested at Cranston, R. I.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Upon his release yesterday from the Rhode Island state prison at Cranston, where he had completed a three months' sentence for forgery, Alonzo N. Stevens, aged 25, formerly principal of the grammar school and secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Rockport, Me., was arrested by Inspector McGuire of Providence on two warrants from Boston. Stevens waived the right to demand requisition and was brought to this city by Inspector Walter Abbott of the bureau of criminal investigation.

Stevens is under indictment here on charges of forgery and uttering. It being alleged he defrauded one of the big department stores and the proprietors of the Parker House out of several hundred dollars early in August. He was arraigned before Judge Scudder in superior court late in the afternoon and bail was fixed at $2000. It is charged Stevens forged the name of R. W. Carlton, a friend, to checks that he distributed in this city and Newport. Mr. Carlton is a director in the Camden National bank and is president of the Rockport, Y. M. C. A. It is said Mr. Carlton had implicit confidence in the young schoolmaster until after the latter left Rockport in August.

The question of prison stripes for trust magnates is hardly one on which the government can take an affirmative stand for the reason that it has favored the trust tariff, has shielded the trusts in the past and taken their money in lieu of the special privileges. The republican party, the ally of the trusts, cannot be expected to institute criminal proceedings against trust magnates with whom it has had a political alliance for twenty years—not if a civil suit will serve to meet the popular demand.

President Taft is conferring with his tariff board on the question of finding some campaign material on the tariff that will help him in the coming fight. Every republican board of that kind knows just what its duties are. This particular board will have to produce facts and figures to show that the president's vetoes were right and that candor must follow defeat of the republican party. This must be demonstrated from data secured by the tariff board from manufacturers who are loath to part with the special privileges by which they have been fleecing the people. It will be a case of where figures must lie.

PRICES HIGHER THAN IN WAR TIMES

A Washington authority has looked up the prices of the necessities of life in war times and finds that they were not nearly so high as the present prices for the same articles as the following table will show. In eight of the common articles here named the first price is that of war times, the second the present price:—

Barrel flour, $4.10; $5.75. Hams, 14c lb.; 20c to 28c. Lard, 8c @ 12c lb.; 12c to 15c. Cheese, 14c lb.; 25c to 35c. Sugar, 10c to 18c lb.; 5c to 8c. Beef, 6½c lb.; 15c. Shoulders, 5c lb.; 20c. Coffee, 13c to 16c lb.; 20c to 40c.

USE THE CHARTER ARIGHT

Now that we have the new charter it remains to be seen whether we shall make the best use of it or show such a scramble for the offices that many citizens will lose the main point and throw their votes away on worthless candidates.

For the first time in many years, as a result of the new charter, we have a sufficient number of candidates from which to select, but there are so many weak candidates mixed with the strong that some voters may be led to vote for men who, if elected, could do little more than draw the salary.

Here then will come the test of the voters' judgment. Do not vote for a candidate because he is from your ward or just because you happen to know him if you are not positive that he will make a good public servant. To do otherwise will help to defeat the movement for good government.

WHAT ARE THE ISSUES?

What are the issues in the coming election? There is no issue but one and that is sufficient. It is whether we shall have good government or bad at city hall. By good government we mean an administration that will take up public questions and decide them promptly in an able and intelligent manner. To do this we must elect men of affairs, not men who have no business of their own, not men who from lack of experience will be unable to render service to the city in some degree proportioned to the salary to be paid.

The man elected under the new charter will have to assume greater responsibility than under the old. Instead of being a cog in the fourth wheel of a large machine, he will be a whole wheel in the new machine. Instead of helping to run one department he will have charge of several departments and be responsible for them. That is why no man without large business experience should be elected under the new charter. To elect an incompetent man would be a reflection upon the popular judgment. Therefore each voter will have to be more careful in regard to the ability and standing of those for whom he shall vote than in any former election.

A WORD TO THE WOMEN VOTERS

Now that a large number of women have registered in order to vote for members of the school board, it remains to be seen whether they will exercise wise judgment or whether they will vote for candidates who are not qualified to sit in the school board. The women, as well as the men, should remember that education like water does not rise above its own level and that it is difficult to see how a man whose education is very deficient can conduct the educational institutions of our city in an intelligent manner. The women now have an opportunity to set a good example to the men for the latter have in many cases shown very poor judgment in selecting members of the school board.

We understand that a number of young men who intended to run for the school board in ward contests had the old charter remained in force, have been very active in getting the women out to register. We feel justified here in stating that some of these candidates should not be considered in any school board contest and the women will make a great mistake by voting for them. In case of the school board the same rule applies as to the aldermen. As well throw your vote away as vote for a weak candidate. If you cast your ballot for one of the leaders you may have some part in settling whose names shall go on the ballot on election day, but by voting for a weak candidate you will only add to the complimentary vote of an "also ran."

It is difficult to understand why some of the candidates are running, but they may have reasons of their own or they may think that under the new charter, as under the old, qualifications are of no account, and that a candidate wholly unfitted for the position he seeks is just as likely to be elected as one who is eminently fitted. This is what we have been trying to get away from by the adoption of the new charter, and it is to be hoped that the women who vote for school committee will show better judgment than the men have shown in the past.

SEEN AND HEARD

A pastor in Charlestown received a circular from a New York whiskey house asking him to send the names of some friends who he thought might want some of the beverage. As a joke the preacher sent the names of a dozen men, mostly members of his church. He was astonished a week later, to receive a letter inclosing $6 as his commission on six sales and expressing the dealer's thanks.

Many of our familiar everyday words have come long distances. Calico takes its name from Calicut, a city in India. Satin is from Zaytoun, in China. Damask was first made at Damascus, in Syria. Gazebo is from Gaza, in Palestine. and balise from Baza, in Spain. Dimity is called after Damietta, in Egypt. Cambric was first made at Cambria, in France, and muslin at Mousi, in Asia.

Serge got its name from Xerxes, a Spanish word. Velvet is our equivalent of the Italian word velvet, and gingham is from Gingamp, a town in Brittany, where the cloth was first used for umbrella covers.

Cashmere gets its name from the valley of Cashmere, in the Himalayas; buckram from Bokhara, a town in Laon in France and khaki is the Indian word for earth.

But we have many home-made names of fabrics. Tweed was originally the product of the weavers of the Tweed, melton was first made at the town of that name in Leicestershire. Worsted is from Worstead, famed for its fine wool yarns. Cheviot was originally a cloth made from the wool of the Cheviot hills, and blankets got their name from their original English manufacturer—Thomas Blanket.

Mrs. Newwed—My dear, as you said we must do everything possible to economize, I have been at work turning my old dresses, and I can make most of them in another year. It won't take me over six weeks to get through, and then I'll reshake and return my old bonnets.

Mr. Newwed—That's very sensible, my dear.

Mrs. Newwed—And I've sent off the washerwoman and discharged the hired girl. I will do all the work myself.

Mr. Newwed—You're an angel, my love!

Mrs. Newwed—And I took that box of imported cigars you bought and traded them for two boxes of cheaper ones.

Mr. Newwed—Now, see here! Economy is a good thing, but there is no need of your becoming an unreasonable, fanatical monomaniac on the subject.

"The female of the species is more deadly than the male."—Rudyard Kipling.

When the women of the city have a game in view.

They go out to show the sterner sex what women's votes will do.

They don't allow their interest to grow the least bit stale.

For the female "voterino" is more earnest than the male.

It goes in everything in life, no matter what you say.

You'll find the little "sherrale" is bound to have her way.

And when it comes to voting, no matter what her mind.

The male she doesn't vote for will be the male behind.

GOD BLESS HIM

Here's to the man who smiles on you And gives you a cherry "howdy-do!" And falls in step when you're walking lame.

From the bruises in the world's rough game.

That makes old trouble fairly gasp: The man who gives your hand a grasp; Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And makes the world grow bright for you.

Here's to the man you chance to meet In busy mart or the crowded street, When you are fully down and out And lost in more of deepest doubt; Who slaps your back and cries "hello!" With face alight with friendship's glow.

Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And makes life take a brighter hue.

Here's to the man of big brave heart Who dares from the crowd to step apart

And lend a hand to the man who fell To the very brink of the lowest hell; Who says "Hello!" what cheer, old scout?"

And helps him up to the right-about. Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And starts him off on the way anew.

Here's to the man unknown to fame Who loves all men and plays the game Of this life square, and seems to make A profit big from a friend's mistake; Whose eyes light up when he comes your way.

And passes a pleasant time o' day; Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And smiles, and gives new strength to you.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Springfield Republican: Gov. Harmon's popularity in Wall street and with James Smith, Jr., of New Jersey, with mention of the McNamara jury, Wednesday, is described as a farmer of English birth who expressed great respect for institutions and laws. His examination was of the briefest. Whether he is later to be dismissed by a peremptory challenge or not, the incident is the bright spot in the case. One can imagine the relief with which judges, counsel, prisoner, court officers and spectators alike must have heard his avowal. Scores of talesmen have professed admiration for labor unions or capitalist enterprise or doubt concerning the desirability of the death penalty or circumstantial evidence, but it has been left for an English-born farmer to confess esteem for the whole system of the law under which capital and labor exist. Is it unpatriotic to wish that had come from native American lips?

ENGLISH EXAMPLE

N. Y. Evening Post: The one man tentatively accepted for the McNamara jury, Wednesday, is described as a farmer of English birth who expressed great respect for institutions and laws. His examination was of the briefest. Whether he is later to be dismissed by a peremptory challenge or not, the incident is the bright spot in the case. One can imagine the relief with which judges, counsel, prisoner, court officers and spectators alike must have heard his avowal. Scores of talesmen have professed admiration for labor unions or capitalist enterprise or doubt concerning the desirability of the death penalty or circumstantial evidence, but it has been left for an English-born farmer to confess esteem for the whole system of the law under which capital and labor exist. Is it unpatriotic to wish that had come from native American lips?

ASK THE SUPREME COURT

Los Angeles Tribune: The government has asked the supreme court to say that running a corner on a stock exchange is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

All we need to do in this country is to go to the supreme court in a proper spirit of humility. If it fails to give us what we want, it is, we may be sure, because it isn't best for us to have it.

EXPORT OF RAISINS DURING PAST FISCAL YEAR VALUED AT $1,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—More than one million dollars worth of raisins were exported from the United States in the last fiscal year, the quantity, 18½ million pounds, being far in excess of the total exported in any earlier year. The imports during the year amounted to only 2½ million pounds, against 10 million pounds in 1906 and as high as 50 million pounds in certain years prior to the development of production in the United States. Comparing 1911 with 1900, the figures of the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor show that exports grew from 2½ million pounds to over 18½ million pounds, and their value, from $140,000 to $1,000,000. During the same period imports of raisins fell from 10 1/2 million pounds in 1900 to 2½ million in 1911, and their value, from $331,000 to $227,000. The largest exportation of raisins recorded in any year prior to 1911 was that of 1907, a little over 9 million pounds, or less than half that of 1911, while the largest importation of raisins on record is that of 1884, when a total of 54 million pounds entered the country, as against but 2½ million pounds in the fiscal year 1911.

Canada is by far the largest market for American raisins exported, the exports there in the fiscal year 1911 having been 11 million pounds compared with less than three million to New Zealand, about 1 million each to England and Germany, and 3 million pounds to all other parts of the world. Of the 2½ million pounds imported last year, Spain, England, and the United States, and Asiatic Turkey were the chief sources, the first named country being credited with over 1 million pounds, and the others less than a half million pounds each. These figures contrast with those of 1884 when of nearly 54 million pounds of raisins imported, Spain was credited with 47½ million pounds; England, 3½ million; and Italy, nearly 2 million pounds.

The marked falling off in importations of raisins is the result of the rapid increase in domestic production, which first attained commercial importance in the early 'seventies. The American raisin industry had its beginning in the great San Joaquin valley and certain counties of southern California, which is still the chief producing area in the United States. In 1873 the California crop was but 120,000 pounds; by 1880 it had grown to 1,500,000 pounds; by 1890, 35,000,000 pounds; by 1900, to 90,000,000 pounds, and in the later years has risen as high as 140,000,000 pounds in 1907 and 1909, and fallen as low as 75,000,000 pounds in 1904, the figure for 1910 being 112,000,000 pounds. These figures of production are supplied by Mr. Robert Robertson, statistician of Fresno county, California, and are here quoted in the absence of official data covering the production in the United States as a whole.

BARBER ACCUSED

SNIPPED BRAID OF HAIR FROM SCHOOL GIRL'S HEAD

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Dragged off a trolley car after two 14-year-old school girls had complained that he had snipped a six-inch braid from the hair of one of them. John R. Derby, a 48-year-old barber, out of employment, was late yesterday held in front of the American house by a crowd of a hundred men until a police officer arrived.

Shortly before 5 o'clock the two girls, Bertha Hoffman of 91 Chambers street in the West End and Mollie Eglichen of 22 North Russell street, left a North End drug store, when it is alleged they hid in a long pair of barber's shears hidden in his side pocket, followed them, and finally snipped a six-inch piece of heavy braid hanging down the back of the Hoffman girl.

The question of prison stripes for trust magnates is hardly one on which the government can take an affirmative stand for the reason that it has favored the trust tariff, has shielded the trusts in the past and taken their money in lieu of the special privileges. The republican party, the ally of the trusts, cannot be expected to institute criminal proceedings against trust magnates with whom it has had a political alliance for twenty years—not if a civil suit will serve to meet the popular demand.

President Taft is conferring with his tariff board on the question of finding some campaign material on the tariff that will help him in the coming fight. Every republican board of that kind knows just what its duties are. This particular board will have to produce facts and figures to show that the president's vetoes were right and that calamity must follow defeat of the republican party. This must be demonstrated from data secured by the tariff board from manufacturers who are loath to part with the special privileges by which they have been fleecing the people. It will be a case of where figures must lie.

PRICES HIGHER THAN IN WAR TIMES

A Washington authority has looked up the prices of the necessities of life in war times and finds that they were not nearly so high as the present prices for the same articles as the following table will show. In eight of the common articles here named the first price is that of war times, the second the present price:—

Barrel flour, $4.10; $5.75. Hams, 14c lb.; 20c to 28c. Lard, 8c @ 12c lb.; 12c to 15c. Cheese, 14c lb.; 25c to 35c. Sugar, 10c to 18c lb.; 5c to 8c. Beef, 6 1/2c lb.; 15c. Shoulders, 5c lb.; 20c. Coffee, 13c to 16c lb.; 20c to 40c.

USE THE CHARTER ARIGHT

Now that we have the new charter it remains to be seen whether we shall make the best use of it or show such a scramble for the offices that many citizens will lose the main point and throw their votes away on worthless candidates.

For the first time in many years, as a result of the new charter, we have a sufficient number of candidates from which to select, but there are so many weak candidates mixed with the strong that some voters may be led to vote for men who, if elected, could do little more than draw the salary.

Here then will come the test of the voters' judgment. Do not vote for a candidate because he is from your ward or just because you happen to know him if you are not positive that he will make a good public servant. To do otherwise will help to defeat the movement for good government.

WHAT ARE THE ISSUES?

What are the issues in the coming election? There is no issue but one and that is sufficient. It is whether we shall have good government or bad at city hall. By good government we mean an administration that will take up public questions and decide them promptly in an able and intelligent manner. To do this we must elect men of affairs, not men who have no business of their own, not men who from lack of experience will be unable to render service to the city in some degree proportioned to the salary to be paid.

The man elected under the new charter will have to assume greater responsibility than under the old. Instead of being a cog in the fourth wheel of a large machine, he will be a whole wheel in the new machine. Instead of helping to run one department he will have charge of several departments and be responsible for them. That is why no man without large business experience should be elected under the new charter. To elect an incompetent man would be a reflection upon the popular judgment. Therefore each voter will have to be more careful in regard to the ability and standing of those for whom he shall vote than in any former election.

A WORD TO THE WOMEN VOTERS

Now that a large number of women have registered in order to vote for members of the school board, it remains to be seen whether they will exercise wise judgment or whether they will vote for candidates who are not qualified to sit in the school board. The women, as well as the men, should remember that education like water does not rise above its own level and that it is difficult to see how a man whose education is very deficient can conduct the educational institutions of our city in an intelligent manner. The women now have an opportunity to set a good example to the men for the latter have in many cases shown very poor judgment in selecting members of the school board.

We understand that a number of young men who intended to run for the school board in ward contests had the old charter remained in force, have been very active in getting the women out to register. We feel justified here in stating that some of these candidates should not be considered in any school board contest, and the women will make a great mistake by voting for them. In case of the school board the same rule applies as to the aldermen. As well throw your vote away as vote for a weak candidate. If you cast your ballot for one of the leaders you may have some part in settling whose names shall go on the ballot on election day, but by voting for a weak candidate you will only add to the complimentary vote of an "also ran."

It is difficult to understand why some of the candidates are running, but they may have reasons of their own or they may think that under the new charter, as under the old, qualifications are of no account, and that a candidate wholly unfitted for the position he seeks is just as likely to be elected as one who is eminently fitted. This is what we have been trying to get away from by the adoption of the new charter, and it is to be hoped that the women who vote for school committee will show better judgment than the men have shown in the past.

SEEN AND HEARD

A pastor in Charlestown received a circular from a New York whiskey house asking him to send the names of some friends who he thought might want some of the beverage. As a joke the preacher sent the names of a dozen men, mostly members of his church. He was astonished a week later, to receive a letter including $6 as his commission on six sales and expressing the dealer's thanks.

Many of our familiar everyday words have come long distances. Calico takes its name from Calicut, a city in India. Satin is from Zaytoon, in China. Damask was first made at Damascus, in Syria. Gause is from Gaza, in Palestine, and balze from Baza, in Spain. Dimity is called after Damietta, in Egypt. Cambric was first made at Cambria, in France, and muslin at Mousli, in Asia.

Serge got its name from Xerga, a Spanish word. Velvet is our equivalent of the Italian word velveto, and kinglyman is from Ginkamp, a town in Brittany, where the cloth was first used for umbrella covers.

Cashmere gets its name from the valley of Cashmere, in the Himalayas. buckram from Bokhara, a town in Laon in France and khaki is the Indian word for earth.

But we have many home-made names of fabrics. Tweed was originally the product of the weavers of the Tweed, melton was first made at the town of that name in Leicestershire. Worsted is from Worstead, famed for its fine wool yarns. Cheviot was originally a cloth made from the wool of the Cheviot Hills, and blankets got their name from their original English manufacturer—Thomas Blanket.

Mrs. Newwed—My dear, as you said we must do everything possible to economize, I have been at work turning my old dresses, and I can make most of them do another year. It won't take me over six weeks to get through, and then I'll reshape and re-trim my old bonnets.

Mr. Newwed—That's very sensible, I must say.

Mrs. Newwed—I have also been trying some waxed thread and a coarse needle on my old shoes, and I believe they'll last six months longer; and I've turned that old carpet we bought second hand and given it a thorough washing, so that it will do very nicely; and I'm going to make some curtains for the upstairs windows to avoid buying new ones.

Mr. Newwed—Eminently sensible, my dear.

Mrs. Newwed—And I've sent off the washerwoman and discharged the hired girl. I will do all the work myself.

Mr. Newwed—You're an angel, my love!

Mrs. Newwed—And I took that box of imported cigars you bought and traded them for two boxes of cheaper ones.

Mr. Newwed—Now, see here! Economy is a good thing, but there is no need of your becoming an unreasonable, fanatical monomaniac on the subject.

"The female of the species is more deadly than the male."—Rudyard Kipling.

When the women of the city have a caucus to elect a mayor, they go out to show the sterner sex what women's votes will do. They don't allow their interest to grow the least bit stale.

For the female "voterino" is more earnest than the male. It goes in everything in life, no matter what you say.

You'll find the little "sternale" is bound to have her way. And when it comes to voting, no matter what her mind; The male she doesn't vote for will be the male behind.

GOD BLESS HIM

Here's to the man who smiles on you And gives you a cherry "howdy-do!" And falls in step when you're walking home.

From the bruises in the world's rough game; That makes old trouble fairly gasp; The man who gives your hand a grasp; Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And makes the world grow bright for you.

Here's to the man you chance to meet In busy mart or crowded street. When you are fully down and out And lost in more of deepest doubt; Who slaps your back and cries "hello!" With face alight with friendship's glow!

Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And makes life take a brighter hue. Here's to the man of big brave heart Who dares from the crowd to step

And lend a hand to the man who fell To the very brink of the lowest hell; Who says "hello!" what cheer, old scout?" And helps him up to the right about. Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And starts him off on the way anew.

Here's to the man unknown to fame Who loves all men and plays the game Of this life square, and scorns to make A profit big from a friend's mistake; Whose eyes light up when he comes your way.

And passes a pleasant time o' day; Who says "hello!" and "howdy-do!" And smiles, and gives new strength to you.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Springfield Republican: Gov. Harman's popularity in Wall street and with James Smith, Jr., of New Jersey, not to mention Tim Sullivan of the Bowery, is becoming pathetic. He deserves a kinder fate than to be loaded down with the enthusiastic support of such an unholy alliance. Gov. Wilson has critics and enemies, but he is fortunate in that his friends do not embrace any of the janissaries of the "plunderbund."

ENGLISH EXAMPLE

N. Y. Evening Post: The one man tentatively accepted for the McNamara jury, Wednesday, is described as a farmer of English birth who expressed great respect for institutions and laws. His examination was of the briefest. Whether he is later to be dismissed by a peremptory challenge or not, the incident is the bright spot in the case. One can imagine the relief with which judge, counsel, prisoner, court officers and spectators alike must have heard his avowed. Scores of talesmen have professed admiration for labor unions or capitalist enterprise or doubt concerning the desirability of the death penalty or circumstantial evidence, but it has been left for an English-born farmer to confess esteem for the whole system of the law under which capital and labor exist. Is it unpatriotic to wish that this had come from native American lips?

EXPORT OF RAISINS

DURING PAST FISCAL YEAR VALUED AT $1,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—More than one million dollars worth of raisins were exported from the United States in the last fiscal year, the quantity, 18 1/2 million pounds, being far in excess of the total exports in any earlier year. The imports during the year amounted to only 2 1/2 million pounds, against 10 million pounds in 1900 and as high as 50 million pounds in certain years prior to the development of production in the United States. Comparing 1911 with 1900, the figures of the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor show that exports grew from 2 1/2 million pounds to over 18 1/2 million pounds, and their value, from $140,000 to $1,069,000. During the same period imports of raisins fell from 10 1/2 million pounds in 1900 to 2 1/2 million in 1911, and their value, from $331,000 to $237,000. The largest exportation of raisins recorded in any year prior to 1911 was that of 1907, a little over 9 million pounds, or less than half that of 1911, while the largest importation of raisins on record is that of 1884, when a total of 54 million pounds entered the country, as against but 2 1/2 million pounds in the fiscal year 1911.

Canada is by far the largest market for American raisins exported, the exports thereto in the fiscal year just having been 11 million pounds, compared with less than three million to New Zealand, about 1 million each to England and Germany, and 2 million pounds to all other parts of the world. Of the 2 1/2 million pounds imported last year, Spain, England, Italy, Russia, and Asiatic Turkey were the chief sources, the first named country being credited with over 1 million pounds, and the others less than a half million pounds each. These figures contrast with those of 1911, when of nearly 51 million pounds of raisins imported, Spain was credited with 47 1/2 million pounds; England, 3 1/2 million; and Italy, nearly 3 million pounds.

The marked falling off in importations of raisins is the result of the rapid increase in domestic production, which first attained commercial importance in the early 'seventies." The American raisin industry had its be-

MURDER IS CHARGED

Mess Steward Charged With Murder of a Negro Sailor

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—The United States circuit court room looked like the deck of a warship today for it was crowded with seamen and naval officers summoned as witnesses at the trial of Mess Steward James Becks, a negro of Atlanta, Ga., charged with the murder of Alexander Allen, a negro of Brooklyn, on the battleship Nebraska while she lay at the Charlestown navy yard May 9th last.

Later the naval witnesses were excluded and the work of empaneling a jury was begun. Allen was shot just after a quarrel with Becks. It was claimed by the defense that Becks acted in self defense and that Allen was about to strike him with an iron bar. The jury was taken to the navy yard and shown the scene of the murder on the deck of the Nebraska.

FIRE ON LUSITANIA

PASSENGERS WERE DRIVEN FROM THEIR CABINS

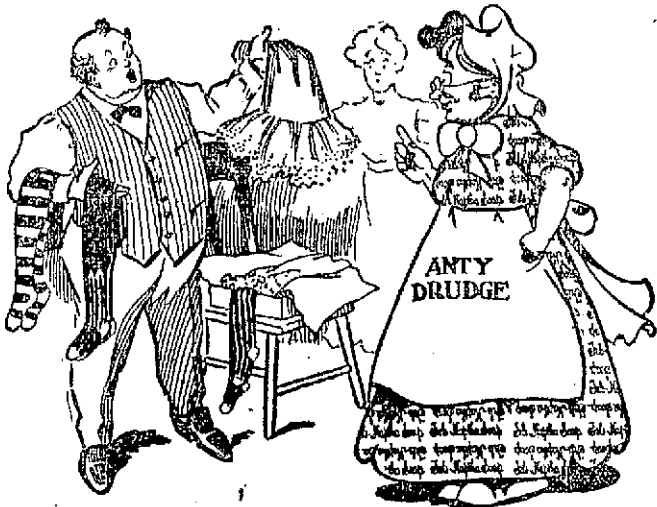

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 21.—An outbreak of fire occurred on the Cunard liner Lusitania which left Liverpool on Saturday, bound for New York via Queenstown.

The fire was caused by a short circuit in the second cabin soon after the steamship left the Mersey. It was located in one of the staterooms and almost immediately all the second cabin lights went out. A thick, pungent smoke drove the passengers to the decks. The engines

AUTO WRECKED

PARTY WAS ON WAY HOME FROM YALE GAME

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 21.—A big touring car, carrying a New York number, which came here following the football game in New Haven Saturday, came to grief and turned over in Platt's Mills, two miles south of here, last night, trying to avoid a motor cyclist. The car, the police say, was heretofore run into the fence to avoid injury to the cyclist, and was much damaged. It is believed the car belonged to Herman F. Rogers, of New York City, and with him were Stuart Brown, Jr., of Pittsburgh; J. Griswold Webb, of New York, and two others, said to be B. C. Hayward and P. A. Craig, of Boston and Worcester, respectively. The men were all more or less shaken up, and two were painfully bruised, but all were able to go home.

Anty Drudge Tells How to Prevent Laundry Mistakes.

Jones—"Heavens, Jemina! Look what came back from the laundry! Three pairs of women's stockings and five petticoats. Why I've got some woman's laundry instead of my own."

Anty Drudge—"I'll tell you how to avoid mistakes like that. Get Fels-Naptha and have your things washed the easy way at home. They'll be cleaner and fresher and wear twice as long and then you won't get them mixed with other people's clothes."

You owe it to yourself and your folks to use Fels-Naptha.

You owe it to yourself to cut down the time of washing clothes one-half, to save yourself its drudgery, to make it easier and more pleasant all around.

You owe it to your folks to quit making washday a day of cold meals, steamy and smelly house and general bad temper.

Fels-Naptha does it, summer or winter—washes all the clothes in cool or lukewarm water, without boiling, in little time, with no hard rubbing, and makes them cleaner, whiter and sweeter than any other way.

An entertainment program will be given after the discourse and an orchestra will also be in attendance.

A NOVEL POINT

TO BE RAISED IN CASE OF MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The interesting question of whether the father of a girl is justified in taking the life of the man who betrays her and refuses to marry will come up in the case of Frank McMahon, who was placed on trial here today, charged with the murder of George A. Leary. McMahon is a saloonkeeper and Leary was a well-to-do dealer in real estate. Leary was shot dead on a street corner last May. McMahon when arrested said that Leary had betrayed his daughter and had insulted him when he asked Leary to marry the girl. The shooting occurred a month after a child had been born.

RUSSELL IS DEAD

Was Owner of Boston National Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—William Russell, principal owner of the Boston National League Baseball club and a well known lawyer in this city, died at his home early today, after a brief illness. He was 64 years old and was born in Hannibal, Mo.

Mr. Russell had been in poor health for the past year. Angina pectoris was the immediate cause of his death which occurred this morning. He had been confined to the house for the past two weeks.

Mr. Russell was for many years an active force in politics and in later years he became interested in professional baseball. After leaving school he engaged in newspaper work at Hannibal until 1882, when he was admitted to the bar. The same year he became city attorney of Hannibal. He was re-elected in 1884 but soon he resigned to become general attorney for the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago railroad. He practiced law successively at Lafayette, Ind., and Chattanooga, Tenn., coming to New York in 1895.

In 1902 Mr. Russell was a democratic presidential elector. In 1901 he was chairman of the Greater New York Democracy, an organization formed to overthrow Tammany Hall.

He was a member of the Elks and the Knights of Pythias. In 1890 he married Mary Gusbert of Hannibal. Mr. Russell leaves a wife, five daughters and one son. The date of the funeral, which will be private, has not been set.

The disposition of Mr. Russell's interests in the Boston club will be made known when the will is made public.

ADVERSE REPORT

ON RESOLUTION TO ASK GOMPERTS TO QUIT CIVIC FEDERATION

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 21.—An adverse report on the resolution demanding that President Gompers and 11 other officials of the American Federation of Labor be asked to resign from the National Civic Federation is expected at today's session of the federation. As the original resolution was introduced in behalf of the United Mine Workers and is said to have the support of the Western Federation of Miners, the new delegates from Colorado, Utah and Michigan, heated discussion is expected when the matter is precipitated.

BANKERS MET

ANNUAL CONVENTION OPENED IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21.—The first business session of the 37th annual convention of the American Bankers Association convention opened at 10 a. m. The program today included addresses of welcome by Governor Sanders of Louisiana and R. M. Wamsley, president of the New Orleans clearing house, and a response by former Governor Herlick of Ohio; the annual address of President Watts and reports of committees and the executive committee. Addresses by former United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island and several leading bank authorities will round out the first day's sessions.

At the meeting of the executive council yesterday a resolution approving the proposed plan for monetary reform as set forth by Chairman Aldrich of the national monetary commission was unanimously adopted. The resolution probably will be presented to the convention today. A peculiar situation has arisen with regard to the cotton bill of lading question. The only member of the bill of lading committee who has shown up for the convention is Fred L. Kent of New York. It is reported that Mr. Kent will present a resolution to the convention seeking an endorsement of the Eight central bureau plan. The presentation of such a resolution will probably precipitate a lively debate.

when washing colored goods.

- 1—Allow clothes to soak for at least an hour in cold water in which two tablespoonfuls of Persil have been dissolved.
- 2—Wring out and place in a tub of warm water, not hot, with two tablespoonfuls of Persil dissolved in it.
- 3—Rub the soiled parts slightly, rinse in warm water, wring, and hang out.

Caution: Do not have the water too hot. When washing colored goods if you use Persil you will have better results and the colors will not run.

THE RED SOX QUARTET

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

"Hi Hi" Dickson, Long John, George Donnelly and all the royal routs of last season were seen together again last evening for the first time since the park, hovering around Merrimack Square full of business. "Dickson's going to make a speech on the character," remarked a man who marveled at the appearance of all the royal routs in the Square. At 8.15, however, the cause of their sudden appearance was evident for they all beat it in through the entrance of Keith's and soon were trying to look interested while the opening overture was being played. They kept as quiet as the traditional church mice until a certain letter appeared at the side of the stage indicating that the "Red Sox" quartet was about to go to bat and then they opened up and gave the four baseball warblers a welcome that did their hearts good. The Red Sox quartet—Martin McHale, "Buck" O'Brien, who was christened William, Hugh Bradley and Billy Lyons, are Class A singers. They are there each one of them with solos and in the choruses they harmonize faultlessly. Outside of their drawing power as baseball stars they would more than get by on their voices alone. Last evening they were called out four times. They inject a little good comedy into their act along with their singing, and the fans got more from them than was expected by even their most sanguine admirers. Along with this strong headline act are seven other acts each a star attraction in itself. An act which for novelty in its line excels anything seen in Lowell in a long time is the acrobatic work of the Four Bards. There are acrobats who do this and acrobats who do that, and then there are the Bards who do stunts never attempted by the others. Their work of changing positions on each other's shoulders is the most daring and withal the most graceful thing in the acrobatic line ever devised. "How Jasper Fixed It" is the title of an unusual and altogether delightful comedy sketch by Lucille Laverne and company, which proved to be one of the most attractive numbers on the bill. Miss Laverne's reputation as a comedienne preceded her to Lowell and her work instilled all the good things that have been said of her. "Jasper" is a little colored fellow hanging around a southern country store, who engineers a scheme whereby a widow whose grief for the one gone before and some before is said to be a second affinity, who has tried to assume her grief by filling the dead man's shoes. Things are proceeding fairly well for husband No. 2, who starts to talk business to the wife with the result that her memory reverts to husband No. 1, and while she knows not where his mortal remains may have finally landed, decided to purchase a tombstone and hold service. Husband No. 2 throws up his hands over this proposition and in the difficulties that follow little Jasper gets in his diplomatic work, with the result that the wife throws off her sorrow and his emblematic weeds for all time and proceeds to be happy with No. 2. Miss Laverne's character work is excellent, and she is ably supported, Mr. James Thatcher, formerly at Lakeview park, appearing to good advantage as the husband, Paul McCrex, the mad hatter, has an act all his own and it consists of the ridiculous multiplication of a number of silk ties. Carlin and Penn in "Getting a Divorce" produce comedy in English and German. Both are good singers and their parodies are most amusing. The Elliotts have one of the prettiest musical acts seen here this season. Both are harpists, the harp being an instrument seldom seen on the vaudeville stage. They travel through the world of harmony from grand opera to ragtime, while both are exquisite singers. It is a dainty act, and will be greatly enjoyed by all. Monroe and Mack, "The New Recruits" do a knockabout darky dialect act, all the more enjoyable because these acts are seldom seen in vaudeville now. They are a scream from start to finish. Madden and Nugent present a funny sketch, entitled "Too Many Darlings." The members of the Red Sox quartet are all members of the Elks and Knights of Columbus, and on Thursday night the Elks will honor them by attending in a body, while many of the Knights of Columbus will be on hand that night as well.

dress costume with Miss Spinney is a strongly dramatic situation most cleverly clothed in comedy. Mr. William Walsh as "Paul Albers" who evolves from the young German lover with his little dialect into the fly and unscrupulous New Yorker handled a difficult "heavy" part most artistically. Jack Chagnon as Robert Drew, the actor didn't have much to do but made the most of the part and likewise Mr. Clemens as "Rearden." "The Struggle" will be presented for the remainder of the week.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The management of the Merrimack Square theatre is again this week presenting a varied and excellent bill to their many patrons, and that excels

LOUISE LANGDON.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

"The attraction this week at the Hathaway theatre is Anthony Willis' interesting comedy-drama, 'The Struggle,' a play replete with human interest and clothed with good comedy.

The cast is as follows: Jacob Wagner...Mr. Charles Stevens Paul Albers...Mr. William Walsh Robert Drew...Mr. Jack Chagnon Daniel Ruarden...Mr. Leroy Clemens James Kiernan...Mr. Donald McCabe Melvyn...Mr. Daniel McCabe Otto Werner...Mr. Joseph Guthrie Mrs. Wagner...Miss Elizabeth Hunt Helen Wagner...Miss Lucille Spinney Sally Smart...Miss Louise Langdon

"The Struggle" has similar features to two dramatic successes, "The Music Master" and "The Man Who Stood Still," and yet cannot be called a steal from either as the main point of the plot is entirely different. It admits much more comedy than either and while having its pathetic features is not as sad a play as "The Music Master" more closely resembling "The Man Who Stood Still" in this respect. The story deals with the old country custom of parents promising their children in marriage without consulting the child's inclinations, and the inevitable result thereof. Jacob Wagner, an elderly German tailor, promises the hand of his daughter to the son of an old friend to whom he is indebted, but the daughter upon growing up rebels against her father's choice and runs away and marries an actor for which her father turns her from his door. Paul Albers, the young German to whom she was promised in marriage turns out from the light-hearted boy upon learning the ways of the country to a genuine crook, emphasizing the mistake the father would have made had he had his way. Meanwhile the father, with business reverses and is reduced to poverty while his would-be son-in-law robs him of his last little roll. The old man sets on the jury and is approached by a man named Rearden who is in legal trouble with a proposition to act dishonestly, which he sports whereupon Rearden to get revenge, buys the mortgages on the old man's place and starts to sell him out. As the auction is about to take place the daughter and her husband arrive on the scene and upon learning of her father's plight the daughter pays off the indebtedness and makes him comfortable for the remainder of his days and he finally relents and forgives her for not obeying his wishes relative to her marriage.

The principal dramatic work in the play falls to Charles Stevens as "Jacob Wagner," the old tailor and Miss Hunt, his wife, and both interpret the parts in faultless manner, handling the German dialect as if to the manor born. Mr. Stevens' character work is particularly clean cut and the part is one of the best he has been seen in this season. Miss Lucille Spinney makes a charming daughter of the old couple, while Louise Langdon, as the adopted daughter who has a little love affair of her own, "James Kiernan," Mr. Meek, is as sprightly as could be wished for. Mr. Meek takes the part of a young newspaper man who has graduated into a politician, sheriff, etc., who is always on hand when needed. His cabinet shift in fancy those of the past in many ways and one that is fully appreciated by the large audiences. The program is headed by a very interesting and at the same time dangerous act, that of the New York Hippodrome lions. These lions, five in number, and all perfect specimens of their kind, appear in a large iron cage which occupies the entire stage, and in their midst stands their trainer, Mr. Glass. The act which they give is most enjoyable, despite the fact that great danger attends it. The trainer exercises the greatest care in handling these beasts and is ever on the lookout for a sudden move on the part of the animal. The lions jump over each other and perform many other interesting feats. The act is pronounced a very good one.

Our Stock company presents this week "At the Capitol," Miss Lucille Laverne's latest sketch, a one-act play, rather unfavorable views against them. The young woman knows of the opposition of the senator and she calls on him, during one of his busy days for the purpose of securing his approval of her marriage to his ward. The meeting is marked with a decided disposition on the part of the senator to deny all the good that might come from the proposed marriage. The young woman very cleverly meets the man at every point and soon convinces him that she is equal to all emergencies. As a climax to their meeting the senator discovers, through the presence of a lock which the girl accidentally drops to the floor that she is his own daughter. The young man, who previously left the room, returns to find the pair in each other's arms. Explanations follow and the curtain falls with everything straightened out to the entire satisfaction of all.

A novel 20 minute act, that of Ah Ling Foo, a real Chinese magician, includes many new and wonderful feats of magic.

Melvyn and Thatcher in their sketch "The Baseball Fans," are clever laugh-producers. They treat it from a local standpoint and make a hit. Mack and Vincent are good singers and musicians. The photo plays contribute their share to the general excellence of the bill. Friday night selections from the opera, "The Tar and the Tartar" will be featured by the Merrimack Square concert orchestra.

MAUDE ADAMS.
"The Chanteuse."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Rostand's play "Chanteuse" will reach the Lowell Opera House on December 6th, produced by Mr. Chas. Frohman with Maude Adams in the title role. Never has a play received such a heralding. Critics have praised it as the greatest of its kind as a piece of great simplicity, or extraordinary complexity. Yet despite the thousands of questions raised, one query has remained unanswered. Why did Rostand desire to set such an enigma before the public? The reason is not far to seek. Rostand desired to write a poetic drama of modern life, he wished to extol duty, patriotism, antipathy to foreigners. He wished to paint in epicurean the decadent manners and customs of our time. He wished to revive the theme of man's faith in his own destiny, his belief in the importance of his work, his struggle against misunderstanding, against cynicism and timidity. He wished to set forth all this by the old story of the struggles and noble illusions, love torments and broken dreams of the modern creative artist. But he realized that a theme so big as universality could not be treated in verse and yet clothed in modern dress. We are too close to the details of our daily life. The mobility of the work would be clogged at each turn by questions of realism.

For a long time, therefore, the author was at loss as to how to solve the problem. But one day, while taking a stroll he came upon a barnyard. There he saw, between the wheels of a cart, a number of animals, each attending to his wants. Chickens and ducks chirped and quacked, apparently telling each other the latest gossip of the hour. In a cage against the wall a black bird from time to time emitted a feeble cry, to be echoed by the peevish golden of a turkey. A black cat gazed upon all with a benign indifference. A mongrel watch dog growled in faithful devotion. In the midst of this superb crowd entered and instantly all private conversation ceased. At once the rooster became the centre of attraction. The hens advanced submissively. The dog appeared to recognize an equal. "The duck," in fear, got out of his way, the peacock lowered his tail. All this little world acknowledged his superiority, greeted him as a hero. Why then after all, should he not be a hero, a hero of a drama?

The difficulty was solved. Beneath the disguise of this cock, this dog, this blackbird, Rostand could place men and women, thinking and speaking as human beings, characters of the stage with the passions of the stage in a scene that could be staged. To put it briefly Rostand chose the barnyard because no other device fitted so aptly into the spirit of the whole conception. In this barnyard he might symbolize the great truths upon which he wished to focus. In this realm of make-believe his audience could enjoy such details of today as he might wish to point out and yet not wander astray seeking such other odds and ends as he might wish to ignore.

ELSIE JANIS

Immediately following the close of her Boston engagement Elsie Janis will be seen at the Opera House in her latest success, "The Slim Princess," a musical play in three acts.

Miss Janis does not mean to sing and dance—indeed, in "The Slim Princess" she does much of both, and she even introduces one song in which, to the manifest delight of her audiences, she wickedly demonstrates how Ethel Barrymore, John Drew, George Cohan, Eddie Foy and even Sarah Bernhardt might stage a comedy song if they assayed the task. She is a finished artist at the age of 21, an actress of experience, vital intelligence and legitimate methods. She can sound the depths of pathos where it is necessary, as well as point a merry quip in a manner to raise the entire house to a gale of laughter.

MUTT AND JEFF

The play, "Mutt and Jeff" is a musical comedy of unusual strength, requiring the services of more than a half hundred artists, including a chorus of stunnily pretty girls and is distinctly a laughing show, and the acknowledged novelty of the year.

"Mutt and Jeff" as the bright lights of a clever musical comedy come to the Opera House soon.

TICKETS FOR THANKSGIVING.

Tickets for "Thanksgiving" day at the Opera House are now on sale at the box office and there is already a lively demand for seats. The attraction will be the lively western comedy drama, "Billy the Kid," a drama not unknown to local theatregoers and one with an abundance of comedy, exciting scenes and situations.

TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM

For Tuesday afternoon and evening, Nov. 28th, the attraction booked at the Lowell Opera House is the play billed as the greatest moral drama of the century, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." This company is under the management of the Holden Bros. and will be presented here at popular prices. Seats for these performances will go on sale Thursday morning.

THEATRE VOYONS

The demand for additional performances of "The Battle" at the Theatre Voyons was so great that this sensational film has been brought back for the first three days of the week. It is without a doubt the greatest war picture ever staged and one who has read the story of "The Battle of the Marston" will find that the film is the most exciting thing of the century. Over five hundred men and horses are used in the battle scenes and the whole picture is staged with a magnitude that is surprising. Another feature that will interest hundreds is "The Story of the Typewriter," which not only tells the early struggles of the inventor of the writing machine but takes one on a trip through the big Remington factory and shows hundreds of most interesting processes which are necessary to the completion of this mechanical marvel.

SURPRISE PARTY

A very enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien, 124 High street, Friday evening, when their daughter Lillian was presented a beautiful present by a large number of her friends. There were songs by the Misses Vera O'Brien and May Wynne. Miss Flora Wynne gave a selection on the piano. Emmett Roberts and Stephen Corbett made a great hit by singing "I Want a Girl." These in charge of the party were Misses Helen Greene and Margaret Duffy. Miss Evelyn Barry was the accompanist on the piano.

AYER

Burglars entered the drug store of William Ayer, 124 High street, early Saturday morning, gaining entrance through a rear door and took a few overcoat, $8 in money, and a box of chocolates.

Health and Beauty Answers

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Maiden: Your thin, straggly hair can be made to become thick and fluffy. If you avoid all hot shampoos. The most beneficial thing for cleansing the scalp and hair is plain cantharox, a treatment of which dissolved in a cup of hot water is enough for a delightful shampoo. You will find cantharox in every drug store and it will dry quickly and is easily managed. Use cantharox occasionally and your hair will regain its original thickness and loveliness.

Puritan: You are right. Karden is a remedy of grandmother's days, and is considered the best thing known as a blood-cleanser and body-builder. This medicinal tonic is made by dissolving a half-ounce of Karden in one-half pint of alcohol, to which is added one ounce of Karden and enough water to make a full quart. The dose is a tablespoonful before meals. A treatment with this tonic will quickly restore the system of impurities, restore your health and appetite and build you up.

Dot: You cannot change the color of your eyes, but you can make them bright and sparkling by using a simple eye-tonic made by dissolving an ounce of crystals of this should be put in each eye daily. The crystals eye-tonic is splendid for sore, itching or tired eyes and cranial and head pain frequently does away with the necessity of wearing glasses.

Mrs. Ben: (1) It is gratifying to know that the Karden tonic has done much for you. (2) Stop using powder and try this simple lotion for the skin and I am sure you will be delighted. A half-pint of hot water dissolve four ounces of Karden. When two teaspoonfuls glycerine. When this is cool apply sparingly to the face, neck and arms, rubbing lightly and dry. This sprays lotion is splendid for freckles, and rough, oily skins, and using it removes all impurities. It is a charm and softness to the complexion and is superior to powder, while it is invisible when on.

meal. Continue this treatment till your weight is where you want it and you will find that the flesh is firm and the skin will not be wrinkled.

T. D.: A stervel condition of the hair-roots causes the hair to grow dull, "stringy" and brittle, and unless a good tonic is employed, you cannot have to have a real growth of hair. Make up and use this tonic and your hair will again take on its soft fluffiness and natural tint. Mix together one-half pint of alcohol, one ounce of Karden and one ounce of quinine. Massage the scalp frequently with this tonic and the hair will grow thick and when this is done you will not be troubled with dandruff or excess of oil. Consistent use makes the hair grow thick and abundant.

May: Your mother is right. Powders and cosmetics very often cause blackheads and other skin eruptions and cause the skin to grow coarse and lifeless. A thoroughly dependable cream is daily for complexion. Complexion faults can be made at little cost by silencing two teaspoonfuls glycerine into a half-pint of cold water. Then add one ounce of Karden. Let remain until thoroughly dissolved, then apply freely to the face, neck and arms after removing the dust and grime. This sage this in well, and the skin will be soft and velvety. The daily use of this Karden cream-jelly, frees the skin of all impurities and leaves a charming tint and youthfulness to the complexion.

Miss A.: You will find prosox very good for making eyebrows grow thick and silky. Apply it with finger tips, and for thin, straggly lashes, apply to lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. This makes them grow in thick, silken and curly. Dressmakers supply prosox in original one-ounce packages, but use care and don't get any where hair is not wanted.

Grace: You need have no fear about hairs returning after using the delatone paste. Any druggist can supply powdered delatone, and to remove hairs from face, or neck, make a paste with a little delatone and water. Apply this to offending hairs and in two or three minutes scrape off and wash the skin. This removes every trace of hair and leaves the skin white and firm. You will have to pay a dollar an ounce for the delatone, and it is worth it.

GETTING RID OF GRAY HAIRS

"Oh, now I know why you look so young tonight," I exclaimed to a woman friend of mine. "You have dyed those gray hairs of yours." "You're wrong," she replied, laughing. "Much and long as I've wanted to get rid of my unbecoming gray hair, I should not dare to use any dye. I have been advised against it, saying that many contain poisonous mineral dyes that entering the scalp pores would be almost certain to cause blind poison. You'll laugh when you hear what I did use. Just plain, ordinary lavona de sompne, which as I understand it, is merely the pure, concentrated extract of the Pernambuco shrub. A friend whose hair had been restored to natural color recommended its use and I thought I'd try. You know how unbecoming my gray hair was to me, spotty and uneven, and I realized that though I am but 35 it made me feel like an old woman. Well, following the advice of my friend, I mixed thoroughly 2 oz. of lavona de sompne with 6 oz. of Bay Rum and one-half oz. of Monibol Crystals and allowed to stand for an hour. I began two weeks ago, applying twice daily and rubbing briskly all through the hair and into the scalp, with my finger tips. In a few days I noticed those gray hairs turning rapidly to their old natural chestnut color and today there is hardly a gray hair on my head. Isn't a dye, but my hair-dresser says that lavona invigorates the color sacs and the restoration is purely natural. It is making my hair grow very rapidly too." Elizabeth White in Modern Modes.

HURLEY STOPS GAINES

Referee Stopped the Bout in the Third Round

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 21.—Batting Hurley of Glens Falls put Jerry Gaines of Boston away in the third session of a bout here last night which was scheduled for 10 rounds. Six hundred members of the Pastime Athletic club saw the mill. Hurley had things all his own way from the first, reaching Gaines' jaw early in the first round.

In the second, Gaines sent home a few taps, but Hurley gave more than he took and Gaines went to his corner a weakened man. In the third Hurley used an uppercut which subdued Gaines, and although he was not knocked out Referee Tibbitts of Albany called the contest off.

Gaines' backers protested at the decision and wanted the fight to proceed, but Tibbitts was firm. Hurley was about 20 pounds heavier than Gaines. The latter jabbed Hurley in the face numerous times, but the blows were not effective, while Hurley seldom sent in a punch that did not have a lot of steam behind it.

Before the bout started, Gaines' trainers protested on the way Hurley's hands were bandaged and the battle was delayed 10 minutes until new tape was applied.

In the semifinal, Billy Roberts of Brockton defeated Young Allen in the first round with a straight from the shoulder to the jaw. The referee stopped this fight. Young Allen of Adams won over Kid Josie of Worcester in the preliminary. Josie was hand-nights and left in rapid succession and the rain was too much for the Worcester boy, who was counted out.

ATTELL AT HIS BEST
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Abe Atteled lived up to his reputation as the cleverest little man in the ring last night when he defeated Willie Jones of Brooklyn at the Olympia A. C. He was faster, cleverer and showed a harder punch than he has in two years. He was master at all stages and times and had the better of every round but the seventh.

10 ROUNDS TO A DRAW
WESTFIELD, Nov. 21.—Kid Scaler of Spokane, Wash., and Philadelphia Jack O'Neil fought 10 fast rounds to a draw at the meeting of the Whip City A. C. last night. There was not a dull moment in the fight. The final round was the fastest. Both men fought hard to head.

In the opener, both men swapped punches, Scaler working the kidneys continually, while O'Neil put in an occasional body blow. Scaler had a slight advantage in the second round, using both hands effectively to the body. O'Neil rushed his pun at times and appeared a bit wild. Scaler built up his advantage a little more in the third. The fourth round brought an even exchange with the men fighting at close quarters. O'Neil, however, stepped up quitters in the last two rounds especially, having the advantage.

In the preliminaries, Johnny Gallant of Boston defeated Chick West of Holyoke in six rounds. Andy Williams of New York and Joe Freeman of Holyoke fought four rounds in the other preliminary.

BURKE WINS CLEANLY
NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 21.—Buck Burke of Fall River won a decision over Dan Maringo of this city in the liveliest of the six-round bouts put on by the Seventh Bristol A. C. last night.

Burke did the cleaner work, both on offense and defense, and was on the aggressive throughout the bout. Though Maringo slugged busily during the in-fighting, Burke had a long lead at the finish.

Fighting Dick Miller of Pawtucket made short work of Arthur Morrow of this city. Morrow had nothing but a rough-and-tumble wallop, while Miller boxed cleverly, and before the first round was over shot a right to Morrow's jaw that sent him down for a clean knockout.

Young Clark of Fall River made a punching bag of Pat Gallagher of this city for four rounds, the referee stopping the bout before the end of the round. Gallagher was floored twice in the second round.

Young Johnson of this city beat Young Berry of Fall River in the third round, and Young O'Brien of this city was awarded the decision over Young Boyle of Fall River in the third round.

CALL A DRAW
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 21.—Joe Mandol of New Orleans and Marty Baldwin of Boston fought eight fast rounds to a draw before the Southern A. C. last night.

O'LEARY BEATS WAGNER
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Young O'Leary, an East Side bantam, again defeated Joe Wagner in their second meeting of 10 rounds, last night, at the Fordon A. C. O'Leary was too clever for Wagner, and nearly every time Wagner tried to shift, O'Leary stepped in with a left hand jab and hooked in his right to the jaw.

O'DONNELL GOVERNOR DRAW
SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 21.—Bert O'Donnell of Wilkesbarre and Phil McGovern of the National Sporting club here last night. Honors were about even, although if there was any shade to hand out, O'Donnell deserved it.

BOUTS AT MANCHESTER
MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 21.—The McGregorville A. C. conducted a spirited program of boxing and wrestling in its headquarters in Gresley hall with a large attendance. John Paradis of this city and John Mackie of Norwood, Mass., met in catch-as-catch-can wrestling bout. The men wrestled for 1 hour and 30 minutes without a fall. The bout was then declared a draw. Young Caron and Kic Gallagher of this city boxed six rounds to a draw and Kid St. Onge defeated Young Nicholas Kelacans in two straight falls at wrestling.

CLEVER BANTAMS
Are Booked by Lowell Athletic Club

The management of the Lowell Social and Athletic club has secured another attraction that was booked for Boston for its meeting next Friday night in securing Al Delmont and Chick Roskin of New Bedford for the main bout at 115 pounds. All who have seen Al Delmont perform will go miles to see him again for he is considered one of the cleverest bantams that ever donned a glove. Roskin is a younger boxer who is coming along nicely and whom the New Bedford fans claim is a coming champion. The semi-final will have a local flavor for the contestants will be George Stone, a North common favorite, and Billy Mulvey who will box eight rounds at 135 pounds. The preliminary will be of six rounds between Young Hamilton of Lowell and Young Johnson of Lawrence.

An exceptionally strong bill will be booked for Thanksgiving night.

The many friends of Young Boyle who made such a fine showing at a recent meeting of the Social and Athletic club would like to see him go again soon. Boyle looks like a corner for he has improved greatly and is decidedly cool in the ring. He is always in good condition and is a gentlemanly fellow and good clean sport at all times.

BOGUS NOBLEMAN
Given Long Sentence in State Prison

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Phil de Clamecy, "M. D. Ph. D. D. Sc. C. E. M. E.," sometimes lieutenant colonel in the "French army," was yesterday declared by Judge Sanderson to be a common and notorious thief and was sentenced to not more than 10 nor less than six years in the state prison at Charles-town.

"Count" de Clamecy pleaded guilty to four counts, each of which charged the passing by him of worthless checks on the Hotel Touraine. One of these checks, dated June 5, 1911, was for $112.50; another, dated June 4, was for $100, and two more, dated June 3, were drawn for $20 and $60.

"Count" de Clamecy, who is undoubtedly a Frenchman, but whose claim to noble birth is seriously questioned, appeared in this city last June and made the Touraine his abiding place. He soon began to move about in official circles, was introduced to Mayor Fitzgerald, who turned him over to ex-Secretary Duport here. While in his ruses and a trip to Deer Island, where he wished to go to study that institution.

Through Edward Mulready, executive officer of the probation commission, he met Judge Burke of the municipal court, who invited him to sit on the bench with him. "The Count" availed himself of this honor and remained on the bench throughout the day.

When the session of court was ended for the day, he invited Mr. Mulready and Mr. Sargent, probation officer in the municipal court, to dine with him and with a French duke. They were unable, however, to take advantage of this privilege.

De Clamecy was arrested in New York for the Boston police by Inspector Griffin. Inspector Sheehan of the Boston police brought him here. While in New York Inspector Sheehan found that De Clamecy had passed checks on the Park Avenue hotel to the amount of $260, all drawn on the Commonwealth Trust company of Boston.

BURNS WAS INDICTED ASK FOR MORE MONEY

Private Detective Held on a Charge of Perjury

Robert Burns, head of the Burns' Detective Agency, 1 Beacon street, Boston, was brought before Judge McLaughlin in the superior criminal court at East Cambridge, late yesterday afternoon and arraigned on a secret indictment charging him with perjury in two counts, the charges growing out of his testimony before the grand jury on June 25, 1911, in the investigation of Middlesex county affairs.

Burns waived the reading of the indictment and pleaded not guilty. He was released in $500 bonds for a hearing.

It is alleged in the indictment that Burns made false statements in his testimony relative to transactions involving the county commissioners of Middlesex in certain contracts for an engine and smoke preventers in the East Cambridge jail.

The testimony on which he was indicted was given at the same sitting of the grand jury before which Jackson Palmer, the Lowell attorney, was convicted of perjury, and whose motion to quash the indictment, is now pending, testified. Burns was engaged to investigate county affairs by the Citizens' committee for which Palmer was attorney.

It is alleged in the indictment that Burns testified in substance and effect to information tending to prove that County Commissioners Gould, Upman and Bishop, after contract for the engine and smoke preventers for the jail in order to avoid compliance with provisions of the revised laws.

The indictment then charges "all of said testimony, a false and untrue statement, as he well knew."

The indictment is signed by George H. Sweetnam, foreman of the jury, and District Attorney John J. Higgins, and dated "November sitting, fourth day."

FOR DIAMOND MAKING

A New Method Has Been Discovered in Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—A new method of making diamonds has just been discovered by Dr. Werner von Bolton, a chemical expert connected with the Siemens-Halske laboratory here.

The process is based on the decomposition of lightning gas by a mercury amalgam, whereby the carbon contained in the gas is crystallized into diamonds. As these diamonds are extremely minute, small bits of diamond dust are introduced into the apparatus, where they serve as mother crystals upon which larger diamonds are gradually built. The process is still in the experimental stage and the diamonds are small but it is hoped that Dr. Von Bolton's discovery may result in the solution of the problem of manufacturing diamonds by artificial means.

WITH NEW LEAGUE

Jimmie Gray Expected to Take a Chance

The Fitchburg Sentinel is the authority for the statement that James J. Gray, who managed the Lowell team in 1911, is interested in the new league. The same paper also says that the promoters of the league have reached an agreement for a lease of the Fitchburg driving park grounds for the season.

The proposed new league is Fitchburg, Portland, Manchester, Salem, Nashua, Concord and two other cities. The Sentinel says this information was substantiated by Mr. Gray and President Wesley W. Sargent of the Fitchburg & Lowell street railway company. The season would start the first week in May and close on Labor day. It is to be in organized ball and will be a Class C league, Arthur W. Cooper is slated to manage the Fitchburg team; Tom McCarthy the team at Salem; Fred Lake in Manchester; Hugh Dury in Portland. Duff, though, is slated to manage the Milwaukee team, so this part of the story is incredible. Mr. Gray says he isn't certain what he will do, whether he will remain in Lowell or not. If he stays in Lowell he will retain his interest in one of the new clubs.

The Sentinel also says that the Fitchburg Independents will be in the field again in 1912 and that the team will be run under the dual management of Mr. Jackson and Tommy Sellers, a former Lawrence boy.

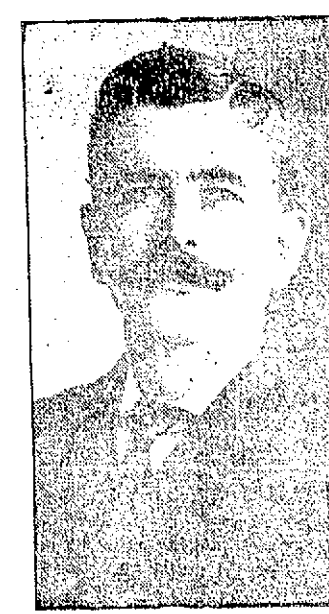

Mr. Gray when seen in regard to the above stated that the matter had been put up to him but he had not made any decision as yet.

AFFIDAVITS NOT SUFFICIENT

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—On the ground that the affidavits accompanying the requisition papers for Nathan Bernum and Louis Brooks were not sufficient to show them to be fugitives from justice from Connecticut, Governor Ross today refused the request of Governor Baldwin of Connecticut for the delivery of the two men. In his letter to Governor Baldwin, Governor Ross stated that Massachusetts laws require that the complaint accompanying the request shall also be accompanied by affidavits to the facts constituting the crime charged by persons who have actual knowledge of such facts.

SUPT. PUTNAM,
Whose Request for More Money Was Refused.

ALDERMAN GALLAGHER,
Chairman Appropriations Committee.

Requests of Heads of Departments Were Turned Down

The appropriations committee met last night to consider appeals from heads of departments for more money.

The superintendent of streets wanted $26,000, but he got only a cent. The committee voted to have him confer with the city solicitor as to the legality of transferring money from one appropriation to another. It was figured that if the transfers could be made the street department might pull through without having to go to the city's wallet.

City Solicitor W. W. Duncan appeared before the committee and said that the appropriations made to his department for Hassam paving work and in the settlement of grade crossing work have been exhausted. Three suits against the city are now pending and will be tried within a few weeks. Experts will have to be employed at figures ranging from $25 to $50 a day. It will take $3000 to carry on the fight against the Hassam Paving Co.

Mr. Duncan said he would need about $1000 to carry on the work of his department for the remainder of the year, that amount to be equally split between the Hassam Paving and the grade crossing suits.

Mr. Duncan said he had already secured experts in the preparation of his cases.

Mr. Chapman moved that the sum of $1000 be recommended. It was so voted.

Mr. Gilmore of the cemetery department asked by letter for the appropriation of $692.15, this amount to go for labor, salaries, loan and sod, oats and sundries. Mr. Elliott moved that $835 be recommended, and it was so voted.

A communication relative to the city council fund was read. This stated that $1100 had been appropriated and of that there remains $119.77, with which to pay bills of $461.60. The sum of $341.73 is now needed. The matter was laid on the table temporarily.

Supt. Putnam said he should need $26,000 for the remainder of the year. Last Saturday night he was $5000 short on street department wages, and $300 short in wages for sewer maintenance. The money to pay these deficits had been transferred. He would need $21,500 for street department wages, $1500 for wages for street watering and $3000 for wages for sewer department maintenance. Questioned relative to appropriations for bridge repairs, Mr. Putnam said it is now getting very late to do work on the Market street bridge. He also said that the appropriations for macadam roads would probably not all be used if cold weather sets in shortly.

It was voted to ask the superintendent of streets to confer with the city solicitor relative to the status of resolutions after the transfer of money from one appropriation to another.

The sum of $3480 for salaries and $6200 for the fitting up of the school was asked for the industrial school and it was voted.

The board of charities asked for $9000, an increase of $2000 over what was asked for last year.

The communication from William A. McEvoy, in which he agreed to sell land at the corner of Livingston and Newhall streets for $3000 for playground purposes was read. The land in question is at the rear of the Butler school. Prior to the joint committee on appropriations looking into the matter, Mr. McEvoy had agreed to sell the land to the park department for $3200. It is assessed for $2800. The area is 20,023 square feet.

Mr. Chapman said the money would have to be borrowed if the land is to be purchased, and Mr. Daly was averse to borrowing any money at this time unless it was necessary.

"Sever and street work will demand a great deal now," said Mr. Elliott. No action was taken.

HARVARD CRIMSON

Wants Eleven Not to be too Confident

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 21.—That Harvard has no more than a fighting chance against Yale on Saturday and that the undergraduates should not acquire over-confidence through the Crimson's victory over Dartmouth and Yale's defeat by Princeton is the warning sent out today by the Harvard Crimson, the university daily paper.

It is pointed out that Harvard went to Princeton a favorite over the Tigers with even more confidence than Yale met Princeton, but both met defeat.

The Harvard athletic authorities are making an effort to stop aeroplane over the stadium crowd during the Yale game. A big biplane with two passengers whirled over the crowd at Princeton, distracting the attention of both spectators and players, while the Princeton management had shivers at the thought of a sudden plunge into the stands with such disastrous effects as in the case of the fatal accident to the minister of war in France last spring.

There is no law in Massachusetts regulating aeroplane as is the case in Connecticut so that the Harvard management will try moral persuasion with the daring aviators.

EXCITEMENT AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 21.—The excitement over the student disturbance of Saturday night is quieting down and the outlook now is that with an inquiry conducted by the Yale faculties to determine the extent to which the students were responsible the whole affair will be closed without any lawsuit.

Manager Edredge of the Hyperion theatre has addressed a letter to the student body in which he expresses regret at the occurrence and says that much of the criticism of the Hyperion management was deserved. He explains, however, that the theatre manager has very little to do about the conduct of the performances, for that rests with the traveling stage manager. The intervention was necessary because it was impossible to rehearse so large a cast on the short notice given by the police to cut the lines. The director, he says, was forced on by thoroughly frightened stagehands and was most regrettable.

MAN DISCOURAGED

He Won Sympathy of Court---St. James Hotel Case

Hungry, tired and footsore, without relatives or friends to assist him and no place that he could call home, Herbert W. Leonard, who for the last couple of years has resided in Boston, appeared in the dock in police court this morning and pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with being a vagrant.

Judge Hadley, upon learning that the man had received a good education and was capable of doing almost any kind of work, took an interest in him and with the assistance of Probation Officer Slattery will make an effort to secure employment for the man.

Leonard walked into the police station last night and said he was discouraged with life. He came to this city in an endeavor to secure work but had been unsuccessful, had no money or friends and did not care what happened to him. The only alternative that the police had was to book the man for vagrancy, which they did and to which complaint he pleaded guilty to this morning.

One of the redeeming features of the man is the fact that he does not drink intoxicating liquors and it was that which especially attracted the attention of the court.

Brother Made Restriction
Charles N. Fowler, who yesterday pleaded guilty to two complaints charging him with larceny of small amounts of money, was in court this morning and after restriction had been made to the complainants' arrangements were made for the removal of Fowler to the hospital for dipomanics at Foxboro.

The defendant, who had been drinking heavily of late, passed two worthless checks on local people and was arrested in Boston Sunday, and brought to this city yesterday. Owing to the man's condition and the willingness of the complainants not to press the case Fowler's brother made restriction and the cases were placed on the files of the court.

New Complaint Made

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

THE AUTO DEALERS WORLD'S RECORDS

Are Being Kept Quite Busy These Days Will Not be Shattered at Savannah

Local automobile dealers are kept busy these days showing and demonstrating next year's automobiles to prospective customers. Nearly all of the 1912 models have arrived in town and many of them have appeared to the motor enthusiast owing to the neat lines, beauty of design and general appearance. As a general rule the rush for new cars does not start until about the first of the year, but this year purchasers were looking for 1912 cars as early as October 1st, which would seem to predict that the year 1912 is to be a banner year so far as the sales of automobiles is concerned.

The salesmen at the Lowell Automobile corporation have been doing considerable hustling during the week and succeeded in selling several Buicks. Mr. George Coburn has purchased a nifty looking model 34 Buick roadster which will be ready for delivery in a few days. The model 34 which Dr. A. Johnson recently purchased has been delivered to him. James Gordon, a devotee of the Buick has purchased a model 35 Buick touring car.

Lawyer Frank E. Dunbar has purchased a seven passenger Peerless which is as attractive and speedy as its engine is powerful.

Many of the local automobile enthusiasts are making the most of the few remaining days of good weather before the stormy season sets in and at every opportunity they are enjoying short spins.

The Lowell Storage Warehouse company has purchased a model 2 express body Buick truck through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation.

FUTURE OF THE AUTO

Transfer of Freight a Possibility

A discussion relative to the future of the automobile industry by those familiar with the present and probable future of the automobile industry, inevitably leads to one conclusion: namely, that the future history of the automobile industry will not differ from the history of the sale and manufacture of other commercial articles which have become necessities of the everyday life and business of the nation.

Farm implements, locomotives, electric motors, street cars, typewriters and sewing machines have become established articles of commerce and millions of dollars of capital have been invested in their manufacture and sale. The future of these industries, has long ceased to be a matter for speculation—they are accepted as fixed and permanent manufacturing enterprises.

The automobile has, in the same manner, become a fixed industry of the world and the demand for it has reached colossal proportions. The business of manufacturing and selling automobiles has exceeded that of any other line of manufactured product and it is only because of the fact that the growth of the industry has been so rapid and so phenomenal that speculation has been indulged in by many as to whether or not the industry will become permanent.

It would seem unnecessary to discuss the question were it not for the fact that there are many who thoughtlessly look upon the motor car as a fad or a craze. Nothing could be further from the truth, for it must be realized by all that this is the age of rapid transit and the practical need for motor cars is so great and so universal that it is inconceivable that there can be any lessening in the demand. On the contrary, the use of motor cars will increase until they are almost universal and motor car service will be extended to the utmost corners of the earth.

The industry up to the present time, has been largely one of manufacturing pleasure cars. The immense possibilities of the future lie not only in this direction, but in universal transportation of freight by motor cars. It is not difficult to predict that freight and passenger transportation by motor cars will in time reach proportions beyond the present established facilities for transportation by water and rail.

An industry so colossal and with such stupendous future will inevitably witness many changes, but that the industry itself will continue to grow and grow to even greater magnitude is beyond doubt. As a comparatively new industry apparently offering great financial returns upon the investment, many irresponsible concerns have been attracted to the building of motor cars. This is always the case in any new line of manufacturing. It is obviously impossible to predict the success or failure of individual concerns, yet it is even now possible to determine with reasonable certainty, a large number of builders who will, in a large measure, shape the course of the industry in the future.

The building of motor cars in a legitimate manner involves such large capital that management of these enterprises and the details of their conduct are necessarily entrusted to men of calm business judgment who have carefully analyzed the situation and who realize that the manufacture of motor cars has become a permanent and important part of the industries of the nation. The automobile business will never witness a cataclysm; weak concerns may fall by the process of elimination, but strong ones will survive their place. The great magnitude of the industry has placed it on a firm foundation.

WHITCOMB A SUICIDE
BOSTON, Nov. 21.—The suicide of Fred Whitcomb, 21, a traveling salesman who shot himself in the head at a hotel last night proved successful and Whitcomb died today at the Relief hospital. Whitcomb, who is understood to have been employed by A. P. Smith & Co., of Orange, N. J., had been at the hotel several days. The reason for his suicide is not known.

BOBBY BURMAN WILL NOT DRIVE MARMON IN VANDERBILT RACE

A telegram from Howard Marmon in New York reads as follows: "Bobby Burman feels a task to get acquainted with two cars in the time left. Friend-Patschke opportunity in the car he thinks will win Vanderbilt."

Burman was engaged to pilot one of the Marmon cars in the Vanderbilt race on Nov. 25th before Patschke entered the regular employment of the company, and by his arrangement was already contracted to drive one of the Benz entries in the Grand Prix race on Nov. 30th.

Since Patschke has joined the Marmon team he has had steady practice in the car and drove a great race on Oct. 14th at Santa Monica. By the arrangement with Burman he was compelled to relinquish the wheel of the Marmon in the Vanderbilt to a driver who would have but little time for practice work. He was to drive the car in the Grand Prix three days later—the same car. It is doubtful if even Burman, with all his records as one of the world's greatest drivers, could hope to equal the performance of the heady New York pilot, who is thoroughly familiar with the car and who has already driven it over two hundred miles at better than seventy-three miles per hour in the Santa Monica road race. Patschke's experience as relief driver for Ray Harroun at the wheel of the Marmon in winning the 500 mile International Sweepstakes race, has proved what he can do with the car.

The change in the Marmon team for the Vanderbilt, making Patschke and Dawson the Marmon pilots, will give Bruce Keen, who won the Jacob Johnson trophy for the Marmon at Santa Monica, an opportunity to team with Joe Nikrent in the Savannah Trophy race on the same date. Keen is an Indianapolis boy, and received practically his first chance to show what he could do in the California race.

TRAINMAN KILLED

Two Trains in Collision at Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 21.—One trainman was killed, four hurt and others slightly injured early today when a Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg passenger train collided with a freight at the New York Central crossing near the iron pier. Nicholas Snyder, freight conductor of this city, was killed. The passenger cars were not overturned and none of the passengers was injured. It is said that the engineer of the freight went by the signals.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Division 2, A. O. H., was held in Hibernian hall last night. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted during the evening. Two new members were initiated and their applications for membership were received and acted upon. The committee which had charge of the recent social reported that it had been a great success.

Two committees were appointed to bring in a list of candidates for the election of officers at the first meeting in December. Committees were also appointed to bring in new members at the first meeting in January. The initiation will be performed by the division's own degree team, which is expected to any degree team in the state. The officers of the degree team are: John J. Murphy, president, and J. J.
